Demand Reds Return 375 More Men

"We Know You Have Them," Allies Tell Enemy in Truce Talks

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Allies warned the Reds bluntly today that failure to hand over 375 more disabled Allied soldiers "we know you are holding" leaves "no choice but to question your sincerity" in full truce talks.

As liaison officers accused the Communists of a holdout in the sick and wounded exchange, truce negotiators got nowhere in trying to choose a neutral nation as caretaker for some 48,000 able bodied Red captives who refuse to go home.

The U. N. Command today suggested Sweden. The Reds again refused to name any country, despite Allied prodding. The Communists already had rejected Switzerland, previously nominated by the U. N.

In the liaison meeting, the Reds denied the holdout accusation, calling it "groundless" and "wilful slander" not worth refuting. They admit holding some sick and wounded Allies, but said these are too ill to send home.

Many of the 684 Allied captives released last week told of disabled comrades still in stockades of North Korea.

The U. N. Command used these figures to pinpoint at least 234 non-Koreans—many of them undoubtedly Americans — and 141 Koreans left behind in "only a part of your announced . . . camps."

The Allies obviously were convinced the Reds hold even more than the 375.

Contends New Policy Will Hasten Growth

Ike Says Spending Cut Won't Slow Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower contends America will hasten its military buildup next year despite a reduction in spending and with a "radical" change from fixed target dates to a long-haul program.

If the armed forces were worried about a reported $4,400,000,000 cut in spending for the fiscal year starting July 1—most of it in military and foreign aid funds—they could take some heart from Eisenhower's words.

In a news conference statement yesterday, Eisenhower called former President Truman's military blueprint a "crazy quilt." He said his administration is scrapping the idea that the West should be ready for possible Russian attack in 1954 or 1955 in favor of a gradual program.

The President was asked if the armed forces would be reduced, in view of Capitol Hill reports that spending would be cut.

Eisenhower replied he couldn't tell regarding long-range objectives but that hec ould say: there will be more build-up in '54 than was possible under the operations and activities as they were proceeding in January, when the new administration took over.

This, the President said, was possible because of a shortening up of lead times—the period between the designing of a weapon and the start of volume production—and concentration on critical areas and items. He did not elaborate on the latter.

Then, at another point, Eisenhower was asked if there would be a build-up in all three services —the Army, Navy and Air Force. He said he should think so.

Someone wanted to know if the shortening of lead times wouldn't mean defense expenditures would be greater during the next several months. That was probably true, the President replied.

Defense Department spending in March was at a rate of about $4,200,000,000, as compared with a spending rate of about $3,600,000,000 in January.

There seemed to be some discrepancy between the indication by Eisenhower that spending would be higher in the months ahead and a view expressed by Secretary of Defense Wilson several weeks ago that it was his intention to level off defense spending at about the January figure.

It was possible the President had in mind an increased volume in deliveries of munitions already on order.

Reduction In Taxes Viewed As Unlikely

Even With Proposed Spending Cut, Budget Will Be Unbalanced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's statement that his administration sees no way to balance the budget for the next fiscal year appeared likely today to delay indefinitely any fresh tax cuts.

Eisenhower told a White House news conference yesterday it will be impossible to bring expenditures completely in line with revenue. Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said Congress may have to approve new appropriations without any final

300 Injured; Damage Runs Into Millions

More Bodies May Be Dug From Wreckage At Warner Robbins

WARNER ROBINS, Ga. (AP) — A shattering tornado dealt trip-hammer blows at this mid-Georgia Georgia community at twilight Thursday, killed 15 persons and caused property damage estimated in the millions.

Between 250 and 300 persons were injured by the devastating blow that churned down from warm spring skies and left a trail of misery, wreckage and death.

Eleven bodies were found amid the litter of blasted homes in the town of Warner Robbins, 15 miles southeast of Macon.

Two persons—a four - year - old child and the wife of an Air Force colonel — died when the storm wrecked the motor cars in which they were riding.

The 14th victim, a boy of five, died of storm injuries aboard an Air Force plane taking him to an Atlanta hospital.

More bodies may be found under the rubble in this town itself and in the splintered wreckage littering the Robins Air Force Base, a supply and maintenance depot and the service headquarters for the 14th Air Force.

One hundred and one persons remained in the base hospital early today. About 50 others were in Macon Hospitals.

Only three members of the Air Force personnel on the base were known to have been injured and they were dismissed after treatment. Property damage to the installation was unofficially estimated at more than a million dollars.

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—A record 823 million dollar state budget bill for the next two years boomed through the House, 129-4, Thursday after an unusual display of strict party discipline.

Four times the Democratic minority tried to restore items to the budget the Republicans had slashed in committee. Four times the Democrats supported Democratic amendments to a man. And four times the Republicans opposed them to a man.

The Democrats knew they were whipped in their efforts to restore Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche's welfare department budgetary recommendations. But they doggedly arose to be counted on every issue.

The minority group, only 34-strong, enjoyed the losing fight with a sort of grim humor.

Some of the Democrats still had some admittedly futile amendments in their hands when the Republicans forced an end to debate by an 87-28 vote. That made some of the Democrats angry. Cries of "we were double-crossed" arose from the minority side of the House.

But even some Democrats admitted privately they were not surprised. The debate on the big money bill had run on for a couple of hours. The Democrats knew they were whipped. The Republicans knew they had the votes—and they used them.

Only four Democrats were irate enough to vote against the bill on the final roll call—Reps. Michael J. Damas, Toledo; Joseph Avellone, Cleveland; John J. Lynch Jr. Youngstown, and Patrick J. Dunn, Strasburg.

Appropriations the Democrats tried, and failed, to restore totalled about nine million dollars—six millions for welfare department salaries, two millions for the aid for aged fund and one million for welfare department institution food allowances.

Republicans replied they have allowed enough money for the welfare department to hire 718 more employes to staff new institutions, enough to grant a $5 per recipient increase in aid for the aged and enough to allow a 10 per cent increase in the amount allowed for feeding state wards. This latter allowance, the Republicans pointed out, was in the face of falling food prices.

The big money bill now goes to the Senate for another thorough combing. House Republicans managed only to slice Lausche's budget requests by about eight million dollars. Lausche asked for 831 millions.

Republican legislative policy-makers are practically committed to an increase in the state school subsidy of about 12½ millions above Lausche's 215 million dollar recommendation. If the school money is found, the Senate Finance Committee must come up with 4½ millions more.

In other matters, a great deal of the legislative interest turned toward issues on which General Assembly groups were busy reversing Wednesday votes.

A Republican policy bill by Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen) to open public assistance rolls to public scrutiny was revived from the House welfare committee bonepile where it had been dumped by a 13-2 vote. It was revived 12-4 and sent to a sub-committee.

Strong-Arm Robbery Nets Thugs $2

Police Hold 2 Men; May Be Link To Garage Burglary

Strong-arm robbery and theft of $2 was reported to Marion police early today by A. W. Lares of 522 E. Church St.

He said he was walking on E Church St. just east of Bob's Nic Nac Restaurant about 2 a.m. when two men walked up behind him, took his arms and forced him to accompany them north on High St. to the first alley, then east in the alley a few feet. There they took his eyeglasses and wallet from him. While one continued to hold him, he said, the other searched through his wallet, took the $2 from it and the robbers then returned his wallet and eyeglasses and released him.

Lares told police he immediately went to the Nic Nac Restaurant and called them. Police received the call at 2:04 a.m. and a cruiser was immediately dispatched to the restaurant.

Lares was questioned briefly about the circumstances and the description of the two men, and then police asked him to accompany them in a search for the robbers.

A few minutes later, at 2:28 a.m., two men were spotted walking west on W. Center St. at Union St. and Lares identified them as the men who robbed him.

The two men, both from out-of-town, were arrested on an open charge and are held for investigation. No charges were filed against them as of noon today, pending

After returning 684 Allied disabled, including 149 Americans the Reds said April 26 that was all. They originally promised 605.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, chief liaison officer, told the Reds the Allies are returning all eligible Communists, and the Allies expect the Communists to do the same.

The U. N. Command said it would make its last delivery of Red prisoners Sunday, bringing the total of Reds returned to nearly 7,000, the exchange began April 20. The Allies originally pledged 5,800.

The Allies did not say how many Reds would be handed over Sunday but they reportedly will include some women.

A group of 500 North Koreans is being delivered Saturday.

After a 37-minute session, the liaison officers recessed until another meeting is requested by either side.

The meeting of the full truce delegations lasted only 35 minutes and was recessed until 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m. Friday, Est).

The Allies offered Sweden as an alternate choice for the neutral custodian, but the Reds repeated their words of the three previous sessions they want an Asian country but refuse to say which one.

spending estimates for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

To Sen. George (D-Ga), an old hand at fiscal matters, this spelled delay and possibly no tax reductions at all beyond the already scheduled death of the excess profits levy on July 1 and a 10 per cent decline in individual income taxes set for next Jan. 1.

Commenting on the President's statement, George said: "I don't see how it leaves any leeway for a tax reduction."

Some House leaders, however, clung to a hope they will pass a tax cut this year, although they agreed with the President that tax reductions should not be considered until a balanced budget is in sight.

Republican leader Halleck (Ind) said in an interview, "I still wouldn't rule out any chance of a tax reduction. I don't think there will be any big fight with the administration but we may cut appropriations even below the administration requests."

And House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass) said:

of his news conference, Eisenhower blasted what he called a "crazy quilt of promises, commitments, and contracts" growing out of defense planning on the assumption Russia would have the air strength by 1954 or 1955 to launch an atomic attack.

The President said he does not admit anyone can predict in what year such an attack might come. He said he was sure the American people would see the difference "between a quiet, steady, long-term improvement in their defense position and the tempests stirred up by public argument over the artificial arithmetic which is so easy to produce in the defense field."

Eisenhower also set forth the broad outlines of his plan to reorganize the Defense Department, sent to Congress yesterday.

The plan is to establish a new "chain of command" between Washington and the commands of unified areas, like the Far East war zone. Under it, orders will go from the President to the secretary of defense to a service secretary and thus to the unified command.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff would be relieved of such command authority. Eisenhower, like civilian defense officials of the previous administration, says the sole function of the Joint Chiefs of Staff should be the preparation of strategic plans and the giving of advice to the President, the defense secretary and the National Security Council. The joint chiefs organization should not be burdened with command responsibility as well, it is argued.

Returned Ashland POW Sleeps in Real Bed Again

ASHLAND, O. (AP)—Sgt. Ned M. Kelley slept in a wonderful invention called a bed today—and in his own home.

"I'm sleeping late," announced Ohio's first returned soldier from a Communist prison camp in Korea before turning in Thursday night. "Then I'm going around town and visit some more relatives.

"What next? I don't know yet. I have 30 days leave. Then, I'm told, I'll have to go to Army hospitals off and on for four or five months for three operations.

"With this blind left eye, I don't think I'll be able to work around machinery in the kind of job I had before I got in the Army (printing). But I don't think I'll go back into the Army."

The 23-year-old Kelley is expecting a medical discharge because of his eye and three bullet wounds. For the time being, though, he expects to enjoy the quiet life with his pretty wife, Ruth, 26, and son, Jackie 4.

Ashland plans to do some celebrating in Kelley's honor soon, but nothing definite has been decided.

For his first meal at home, Kelley ordered — and ate — the things he missed most: Steaks, pounds of it, and milk shakes.

Kelley was released by the Communists about five weeks after he was captured. But he said he had to wait 23 days before he was interned in a Red hospital for treatment of his eye—blinded by shrapnel.

He also stated that the Commu-

Dozen Horses Entered in Big Race Saturday

(More about Derby on Sports Page)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Twelve three-year-old horses, including unbeaten Native Dancer and the highly regarded Correspondent, today were entered, as expected, for Saturday's running of the $100,000 added Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

T. M. Daniel's Ace Destroyer was the first horse entered. Then after a considerable wait came E. M. Goeman's Curragh King and Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem likely third choice.

The Saxon Stable's Invigorator, Greentree's Straight Face and Bruce S. Campbell's Ram O'War followed in rapid succession. Trainers Wally Dunn and Bill Winfrey entered the secretary's office together and put in the names of the favorites — Correspondent and Native Dancer, respectively. Winfrey also entered Social Outcast at the same time.

Money Broker, Dixaina's Spy Defense and Dark Star, completed the field in the order named.

In the draw for the post positions Ace Destroyer drew No. 1 with Native Dancer in No. 7 and Correspondent in No. 2.

Other positions drawn were: 3, Ram O'War; 4. Invigorator; 5, Spy Defense; 6, Curragh King; 8, Money Broker; 9, Social Outcast; 10, Straight Face; 11, Dark Star and 12, Royal Bay Gem.

Native Dancer places one of turf history's most enviable records on the line when he goes in the run for the roses.

Several large structures on the base were flattened.

The swelling black funnel appeared shortly after 6 p. m. when most of the 9,000 residents of Warner Robins were preparing for dinner.

After smashing 30 two-unit apartments in a housing project near the base, the storm entered the base and whirled giddily over the area. Some structures were leveled, some unroofed, and others were left untouched.

Brick buildings in the town and on the base were torn apart as if made of plywood.

Heavy damage was reported in the industrial area of the military installation where supplies are stored and maintenance work is done, Maj. D. de Se. Trenholm Jr. reported. The area was closely guarded and newsmen were not permitted to enter that section.

M. Sgt. H. F. Roth, reserve information officer of the 14th Air Force, said the storm hit like blockbusters that laid waste to London.

Roth said debris was tossed at least 200 feet into the air.

Wind gusts in the Warner Robins area were estimated at 100 miles an hour. Heavy rain and hailstones —some as large as golf balls—fell in the Macon area. The normally placid Ocmulgee River became a raging torrent within hours and was dangerously near flood stage, posing antoher therat to the stricken area.

Two highways leading from Macon were closed by the state patrol. Water covered the Walnut Creek bridge on the outskirts of the city.

Scores of civilians joined airmen from the Robins Base in helping dig the dead and injured from the ruins.

Patrol to Step Up Enforcement, Add More Men

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The State Highway Patrol, batting a mounting traffic accident toll, today announced a two-way program aimed at cutting down deaths.

What the patrol plans to do, said Col. George Mingle, is to "tighten enforcement of regulations and place additional men on duty in criticial areas."

And, the patrol's training and recruitment section received orders to "step up recruitment to reach full strength of 650 men as rapidly as possible." The patrol now has 550 men.

The patrol program emerged after one of the worst week-end traffic fatality records in Ohio history April 25 and 26. From 12:01 a. m. last Saturday to midnight Sunday, 25 persons died in traffic accidents on state highway and secondary roads.

Red Leader Calls on West to Back Peace Talk by Reducing Arms

Speech and Parade Highlight May Day in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's defense minister, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, called on leaders of the Western world today to back up their recent peaceful statements with peaceful actions.

The head of the nation's armed forces obviously had President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill in mind.

But until the West acts on its expressed desire for peace, Bulganin declared in a short May Day address in Moscow's Red Square, Russia will continue to "show due care for insuring the defense and security of our country."

He demanded substantial evidence—particularly a reduction of armaments in lands near the Soviet Union—as a sign that other countries seek a peaceful solution of the world's problems.

"The Soviet government will welcome any steps on the part of other governments genuinely aimed at the easing of tension in the international situation and would like to see peaceful statements made by the leaders of these governments supported by deeds" he said.

The speech was a highlight of Moscow's May Day celebration which also included a short military review and a longer workers' parade.

Bulganin said the Soviet Union believes that with "good will and a sensible approach, all international differences can be solved by peaceful means."

Bulganin opened his speech by declaring that "friendship among peace - loving peoples was growing." Just before speaking, he inspected troops drawn up in Red Square and nearby streets.

Formations of jet planes flew overhead as the military parade got underway.

Bulganin's statement came as Pravda, the Soviet Communist party's newspaper, called for an armistice "in the cold war which is ruining all people." An article by Ilya Ehrenburg, a well-known Soviet writer, said:

"If an armistice is possible in the hot war which is tearing Korea apart, then everyone understands there is also possible an armistice in the cold war which is ruining all peoples, an armistice which must be followed by peace."

Outside the Iron Curtain, workers of the free world also marked the holiday with rallies speeches, parades. There was some fighting, however.

In Japan, 10,000 jeering leftist youths tangled with 1,500 police when the youths refused to disperse at the end of what had been a peaceful parade by half a million laborers through downtown streets.

One of the biggest May Day observances was in Berlin, where East and West staged rival shows less than a mile apart. In the Soviet sector workers marched for hours past a reviewing stand of top Communist government chiefs and Russian officials. West Berliners massed in front of the ruined Reichstag to hear their anti-Red leaders defy Communist encroachment.

New York police banned the annual march there, asserting it had become a communistic affair. A meeting in downtown Union Square—okayed by the police in the interest of free speech and assembly—was scheduled instead.

Cuba's government alerted police and army units as some members of the Federation of University Students went ahead with plans for a demonstration despite the refusal of the Interior Ministry to approve the affair.

At other western hemisphere points, celebrations were scheduled on a big scale. About 300,000 persons were expected to parade through down town Mexico City.

Seven bomb explosions shook Buenos Aires this May Day morning. The seventh occurred while President Juan D. Peron was addressing the opening of the 87th Argentine Congress and could be heard clearly in the chamber.

All the bombs were set off in small public parks, where damage was unlikely.

Tax Reducer

By Inez Robb

It is real educational to get out here among the oil and Osages and learn how to beat the income tax.

INEZ ROBB

First you buy a mess of machinery selling for somewhat in excess of $500,000 and guaranteed to drill a hole 10,000 feet deep.

Next you dig a dry well or duster at considerable additional cost and finally you write off the whole project on the following Ides of March. It is almost like making money in the basement only legal. Samples of this wonderful $500,000 machine which effects such great tax savings to citizens of this and other oil rich states are even now being set up on the site of the 13 International Petroleum Exposition although the 10-day exposition itself does not open until May 14.

AND IT IS expected to sell like the proverbial hotcake, both to the representatives of American oil firms and to those of some 40 foreign countries which also produce oil and taxes.

Oil men from every oil-producing country in the world including Russia are expected to attend the International Petroleum Exposition, the biggest industrial show in the world.

"And also the most costly," said William B. Way, exposition manager, as he gave me a preview of the show which covers 25 acres and looks like Rube Goldberg on an inventive rampage.

IT COSTS $10 million merely to set up the exhibits which are valued at $100 million and include some of the most unlikely machinery this side of Mars.

The exhibits include everything from the new jack-knife derrick and drilling rig (the poor man's $500,000 income tax disintegrator) to sox and shirts made of oil. A new branch of the industry known as "petrochemical" can now transmute oil into clothing and furniture as handily as oil can be transmuted into gasoline.

"When Oklahoma's Gov. Johnston Murray went to central South America last August and September to invite our good neighbors to attend the exposition he wore a suit made of oil," explained Mr. Way. The governor, Mr. Way continued, looked like an Oklahoma Anthony Eden in his petrochemical clothes.

THE EXPOSITION originated in Tulsa 30 years ago, is held every three to four years to illustrate progress and new techniques developed during that interim in every phase of the industry. Here on one 25-acre tract the industry assembles exhibits which amount to a post-graduate refresher course in the oil business.

The hall of science will be crammed with exhibits ranging from tanks of plastic with a capacity of 500 barrels of oil to a microwave radio. The latter, when hooked to a great cross country oil pipeline, can report more accurately than a private eye the goings on inside the line.

THE REPORT automatically sent to a central station hundreds of miles away eliminates human patrols.

"Tulsa is still the unchallenged oil capital of the world," said Mr. Way, with a defiant glance in the general direction of Houston.

"The oil industry is not only the largest industry in the United States but it has contributed more millionaires and paupers to this country than any other two industries," he added.

"What is that thing," I asked him and pointed at a piece of machinery that seemed to be attached to an oil-pumping rig.

"Oh that," said Mr. Way, "Why that is known coloquially as a sucker rod."

And it's part of the wonderful $500,000 machine that saves so much money by drilling dry holes.

Once Served as Home for Susquehanna Superintendents

Old Silk Mills Mansion Torn Down

By CHARLES L. MARTIN

One of the last reminders of another era, of an industry which helped build the city, has disappeared from the Marion scene.

Recently officials of the Universal Cooler Division of Tecumseh Steel Products Co. found more parking space was needed near the plant for visitors and employees.

Casting about for a suitable location for a new parking area they decided a lot on company property occupied by a now abandoned brick house would be fine.

The house was torn down and as it went many Marionites were reminded of the days when it was somewhat of a show place, and a symbol of authority for its occupants.

The three story house at one time served as the home of the resident superintendent of the Marion plant of the Susquehanna Silk Mills of Sunbury, Pa.

This was in the days before March, 1936 when a combination of financial difficulties caused in part by the depression, location far from its markets, and inroads of new artificial fabrics into its business forced the silk mill to close down.

Came Here in 1902

Coming to Marion in 1902, the company purchased a 54-acre tract then facing on Oak St. In addition to a plant building, now occupied by Universal Cooler Division, the company built the superintendent's large brick house, five smaller frame houses for foremen of the works, and a large frame boarding house for girls, located on Mary St. Also attached to the main plant building were carpenter shop and a large boiler and engine room.

In 1907 the plant was producing a million yards of silk a year, and employed some 270 persons, 240 of them girls.

Continuing to grow, the company prospered and at one time hired some 500 persons. Known as one of the more progressive companies to come to Marion, it was praised for high wages paid its employees, and for the pleasant working conditions which existed.

While some of the older former employees have died and others have moved from the city, many still reside in Marion and now are employed in a variety of other jobs. Included among them are Homer D. Cole, postmaster, Ralph Hurr of the National City Bank, Harry D. Cahill, city treasurer, Paul Bachman, vice president of National City Bank; R. S. Hamor, now a clerk at Marion Power Shovel Co., Charles Graff, a rural mail carrier, Ira Saiter, merchant police, Ed Navin, retired, William Lloyd, now at Huber Mfg. Co., and many others.

Taken Over by Cooler.

Following the close down, the plant building remained idle until Universal Cooler Corporation purchased the property about 1939.

The razing of the former superintendent's residence leaves only the main plant building and the old boarding house of the original building still standing.

The former boarding house has since been converted to a double house and is now owned by Mrs. Barbara B. Norris.

Bethlehem Steel Increases Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—The new pattern of higher steel prices continued to emerge today as Bethlehem Steel Corp. disclosed it is revising "extra" charges on most of its products and raising base prices of some items used by the railroads.

The base price changes lift the price of rails to $81.50 a ton from $75.50, and add $3 a ton to the prices of fastenings, such as tie plates, joints and splice bars.

Important Witness

By George Sokolsky

Nathan Gregory Silvermaster has been described by witnesses before Congressional committes as heading a Communist conspiratorial outfit in Washington known as the Silvermaster cell. He has also held very important positions in the government.

SOKOLSKY

Silvermaster feels aggrieved that his past is being investigated. He insisted that persistent efforts are being made to injure him and that he is a loyal citizen who has "never betrayed the interests of the United States." So, the Jenner Committee gave him ample opportunity to display his loyalty by providing information which could clarify his own position and even justify prior conduct. This opportunity he neglected.

-:-

HOWEVER, in the course of the hearing, he produced a pattern of names which must make some sense, but what the sense of it is, I do not know.

He divides human beings into three categories:

1 — Those whom he acknowledges and of whom he will speak. In this category, he places the following: William Ullmann, Virgil L. Bankson, Harry Dexter White, Louis Bloch, Lee Pressman, Edward U. Condon, Leo Fishman, Jacob Kaufman, Philip Mullenbach, David Ziskind, Boris Skvirsky, C. B. Baldwin, Margaret Ostrov November.

2 — Those whom he cannot recall, although they were actually associated with him. In some cases, after not recalling, he takes refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

In this mixed category he places the following: William T. Stone, Barbara Hofmeister, Louis Bernstein, Bernice Brisker, Arthur Eden, Julian Frechtman, Myron L. Hoch, Lawrence Kegan, Harold B. November, Henry Beitscher.

3 — Those to whom he cannot refer because to do so would incriminate him.

In this category, he places the following: Harry Bridges, Alger Hiss, Whittaker Chambers, Lauchlin Currie, Don Post (alias for Louis Bloch), Harold Glasser, Harold Ware, Earl Browder, Sam Darcy, Walter Krivitzky, Gen. George V. Strong, Robert P. Patterson, Elizabeth Bentley, George Silverman, Robert A. Brady, Robert Merriman, Owen Lattimore, David Niles, Max Lowenthal, David Wahl, Frank Coe, Michael Greenberg, Allan Rosenberg, Louise Bransten, Paul Robeson, Solomon Adler, Charles S. Flato, Sam Kagel, Paul Radin, Edwin Smith, Mary Van Kleck, Haakon Chevalier, Joseph Fels Barnes, Anna Falcoff, Elton L. Guthrie, Sam Walters, Richard Sasuly, Palmer Webber, Robert K. Lamb, Mary Dublin Keyserling, Sol Leschinsky, Harold (Henry?) Collins, Herbert Schimmel, Fritzie Manuel, Catherine Bauer.

THE THIRD category is a startling list because, with certain obvious exceptions, it includes the hard core of Communist activity in the United States.

Why it would incriminate Silvermaster to acknowledge Gen. Strong or Robert P. Patterson or one or two others on this list is beyond understanding unless it would lead to his perjury, but some of the others may lead to evidence of conspiracy. I do not know the answer.

I went to considerable trouble to isolate these various names in Silvermaster's testimony. For instance, Harry Dexter White, assistant secretary of the treasury when Henry Morgenthau was its secretary, Silvermaster acknowledges. But White is dead. He dropped dead shortly after he gave testimony before a congressional committee. White was deeply involved in the Soviet conspiracy.

Does Silvermaster acknowledge him because he is dead, but not Earl Browder because he is alive? Or, why does he acknowled Lee Pressman, who admitted his Communist affiliations, but not Joseph Fels Barnes, who denies such affiliations? If Harry Dexter White can be acknowledged because he is dead, why not Harold Ware who is also dead?

IT WOULD seem that, with the exception of a few names that would serve as a bridge in a perjury charge, somewhere in this list of persons whom he will not acknowledge because even to know of their existence would incriminate Silvermaster, as he stated, lies the conspiratorial web. These are the persons to be protected, even if such protection involves going to prison.

Nathan Gregory Silvermaster was born in Odessa, Russia. He migrated to the United States in 1915 and was naturalized as a citizen in 1927.

He studied in Russian, English and American schools, mostly American.

He got a bachelor's degree from the University of Washington and a doctorate from the University of California.

HIS THESIS for his doctorate was "Lenin's Contribution of Economic Thought Prior to the Bolshevik Revolution." (This, too, he refused to acknowledge under oath although it is a matter of public record.)

His first government job was as an economist with the California State Unemployment Commission. His first Washington job was with the Resettlement Administration.

This man moved far in the federal government and became an important influence in American affairs.

To date, he and Harold Glasser are the most important witnesses before the current investigative committees.

Two Worms Twice As Tempting to Fish

WARMINSTER, Va. (AP)—This is a one fish-two fishermen story.

Billy Turner yelled out, "I've got a bite," as he began pulling his fishing line out of the James River here yesterday.

His brother, Walker, standing alongside felt his line tighten at the same time and he, too, began yanking.

Up came the two lines, each one attached to a perch.

CROWN CAVALCADE — The PREDECESSORS of ELIZABETH II

No. 11: Edward II. Ruled England 1307-1327.

Effigy of Edward II, [1] Stirling Castle. The threatened loss of this last stronghold on the border shamed Edward II into renewing the war with the Scots—with disastrous results.

Typical headdresses of Edward II's era.

Born: 1284 at Carnarvon Castle in Wales, fourth son of Edward I by his first wife, Eleanor of Castile. Edward II measured up to his father, who was one of the ablest of early English kings, in only one way—physically. He paid little attention to the arts of statecraft in which his father had him schooled, surrounded himself with court favorites, and led an indolent, dissolute life. He abandoned the war his father waged with Scotland and the Scots grew strong. When Edward II finally resumed it his army met overwhelming defeat at Bannockburn—as told in many a Scottish lay—and the Scots remained free. A plan to bring the two countries together by marrying Edward II to Queen Margaret of Scotland when both were young was ended by Margaret's death and Edward made the mistake of marrying Isabella of France and then neglecting her. She went to France with her younger son, Edward, in 1326, ostensibly to do homage to the boy's grandfather, Philip the Fair. Actually she formed an alliance with her lover, Roger Mortimer, a disgruntled English nobleman, to overthrow Edward. Edward's followers deserted and he was forced to abdicate. He was imprisoned, then killed.

The president, the Rev. Arthur M. Bosler, of the Sycamore Methodist Church had charge of the meeting. The Rev. D. V. Whiteneck, of Carey Methodist Church, was secretary and treasurer.

The Rev. Knox R. Roberts, of the Nevada Lutheran Church, led the discussion on the topic, "The Place of the Organizations of the Church."

The election of officers was held, with the following being elected: president, the Rev. Roy McMillan, of the Wyandot Baptist Church; vice president, the Rev. K. R. Roberts, of Nevada Lutheran; secretary-treasurer, the Rev. E. Ted Wonder, of Eden United Brethren Charge.

Former Caledonia Man Finds Air Service Is Prompt

Speedy delivery on a "first flight" mailing on the Lake Central Airlines out of Marion on April 15 is reported by Harry R. Seckel of Oakland, Calif., in a letter to Postmaster Homer D. Cole.

Mr. Seckel, former resident of Caledonia, a collector, reported that one of two "first day covers" he sent to Marion for mailing out on the first Lake Central flight reached his home, 450 Lee St., on the noon delivery, April 16, bearing a Cleveland postmark of 11 a.m. April 15.

The former Marion Countian, who is an auditor of postal accounts at Oakland, is looking forward to attending the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation class at Caledonia High School, next year, and also meeting old friends and schoolmates. His visit will include visiting The Marion Star, "whose threshold was crossed many times in 1904 while peddling The Star, and meeting John Stafford, an old classmate."

Turkey which was still importing grain in 1950 has become the fifth largest grain exporter in the world says the National Geographic Society.

ACRES OF CARPETS TO CLEAN

People who have acres of carpets to clean, like hotel owners, almost invariably use foam. Sane Outlook for Children

Before the end of this century, Child Health Day, observed on May 1, will be an occasion to evaluate the mental health of children.

Physical health will have ceased to be a problem. Control of infectious disease in children now could be complete, provided health education had kept pace with medical care. This defect can be overcome by dissemination of knowledge.

But mental health is a harder problem. When heart disease and rheumatic fever, the two principal causes of death and ill health among children, finally have been routed, there still will remain the major problem of a sane outlook for the young.

Children need harmonious balance in their homes, schools, neighborhoods and areas. They need the intelligent and sympathetic attention of their elders. They need a sense of being loved and wanted when they are small, just as desperately as they need nourishing food and dental care. They need protection from evil propagandists, from criminal influences, from dope peddlers, teachers of hatred and fear — all the enemies of childhood — enemies created and subsidized by their elders.

If sometime before the year 2001, Americans can claim that the mental health of their children has been made as secure as their physical health, Child Health Day will be an occasion of rejoicing.

Military Mind, American Style

A professional military man, Dwight D. Eisenhower has told his former associates in the armed services they can get along after next July 1 with at least $4 billion less than they asked for in the Truman budget.

This is what 50 milion taxpayers have been waiting to hear. It is the candid opinion of most of them that if their militarists would have settled for approximately $41 billion worth of new appropriations in the Truman budget they would settle for $31 billion worth in an Eisenhower budget, and no questions asked.

Appraisals Premature

By David Lawrence

History Overlooked in Eisenhower Reviews

There are lots of "first 100 days of Eisenhower" appraisals going the rounds. Just why 100 days were selected as the period in which to take the pulse of the new administration may be puzzling to some, but it's just a relic of the first 100 days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's first administration.

In his first 100 days, he turned a somersault, repudiated his campaign pledges and, in a spectacular set of moves, persuaded a rubber-stamp Congress to enact legislation much of which has left a residue of damage that may take decades to remedy.

No such 100-day yardstick was applied to President Truman after he took office, either the first or second time.

Actually 100 days is too little time in which to size up any administration. The Eisenhower regime has hardly gotten started.

It is still a mixture of amateurism in politics and honest intentions, with plenty of zeal and enthusiasm to remake the government and give it more efficient personnel.

Much more significant than what the Eisenhower administration has done is what its political opponents and some of its misguided friends have tried to do to reshape the administration into a bigger and better New Deal.

The President, however, has managed to move cautiously and to retain a basic conviction that he was elected on a platform of change rather than continuance of previous policies.

It is interesting to note the "reviews" by the "left wing," including some who supported Eisenhower. They give the impression that the principal achievement has been the victory in the Bohlen case and the rebuffs, gentle though they may be, which have been directed at Sen. McCarthy.

As a matter of fact, reading some of the reviews, one would think "McCarthyism" is more important than anything else. The people who say this have short memories.

The "red herring" technique originated by President Truman when Alger Hiss was being subjected to an alleged "witch hunt" and "hysteria" has convinced many people that the louder the "left wing" cries out about "McCarthyism," the more the suspicion is aroused that anti-Communism is more necessary than ever as a national policy no matter who conducts the investigations.

The speech by the President on April 16 was a milestone in the forward movement of the new administration, not only in this country but all over the world.

It is foreign policy, national defense planning, and the war in Korea which are most vital to the nation today, with a balanced budget and tax reduction as next in importance and, of course, they are all interdependent.

Looking back in political history, it isn't what happens in the first 100 days of an administration that counts but what the people think at the end of about a year or so. No administration in the last half century has worn out its welcome in so short a period as 100 days.

On the contrary, the people have been noticeably patient with an incoming administration — they are more patient than the scribes or the partisans or even the supporters who keep in a fever of anticipatory excitement about the next election, whether it be two or four years away.

Mr. Eisenhower's personality has made a favorable impression in Washington. He is learning fast some of the ways of government and politics. His staff is still new and untrained in Washington methods but also is learning rapidly.

On the whole, the new personnel in the top places show much promise, but there are still more New Dealers in policy - making jobs than there should be if the new administration intends to clean house.

So far as political progress generally is concerned, there probably isn't much change from what it was last November, though, if anything, Mr. Eisenhower may have increased his personal popularity and prestige.

The political evaluation of the Eisenhower strength so far must be related to the stronger tide of anti-Trumanism which won the last election and may help the Republicans increase their majority in 1954. For the record shows that, when a tide of a negative character starts to run, it doesn't reach its peak always in a victorious presidential election but continues for two to four years.

Franklin Roosevelt promised a 25 - per - cent reduction in the budget and tax reduction, and then boosted the budget sky high. He promised to cut down bureaucracy and to do many other things that were proclaimed in the 1932 platform, but before 1933 was over he had started the nation toward a spending spree and a series of un-

Linden, Here I Come!

Chairman, Standard Oil of N. J. Board of Directors

Dear Sir: Well once more I have received your invitation to the annual meeting of Standard of New Jersey over in Linden, New Jersey, May 27. You write, "Members of the board and other executives are looking forward to this occasion when they can meet so many stockholders personally and exchange views." I didn't know the prospect excited you so much, but I can understand it as we do not get together very often.

I will try to be present but if I cannot make it do not feel disappointed, as I will send you a photo as a sort of personal touch. (I look about the same as last year, only a little paler around the gills on account of the big drop in the stock price. I felt wonderful when it was up around $78, but when it got into the 60's the other day I had to start taking pills again. I hope you will have some pills at the Linden meeting.)

You say the meeting will be held at the Linden refinery of Standard Oil. I like the refinery idea. I can see Rockefeller Plaza where the company has its offices any day, but I seldom get a chance to see a refinery. And if you held the stockholders meeting in the heart of New York I would miss the afternoon bus trip around the refinery with a guide and everything, which you tell me I can get in Jersey.

It isn't every day a man can see a refinery by bus and with Standard Oil paying the fare. There will be the usual free lunch for stockholders. That is what really sends me. I do not own as many shares as most stockholders but I eat more than any and you will remember I hold the 1945-1952 record for free ham sandwich and potato salad grabbing from a standing start in the Standard of New Jersey Linden Olympics.

I did not care for your coffee last year. Make it stronger. If the stock goes any lower please serve a slug of something more powerful.

You say, "Stockholders will be invited to ask questions about the company's affairs." Okay, and I will expect ANSWERS. My questions will be simple ones like "How's chances for a stock split?" "Would you buy on the decline or wait?" and "Should S. of N. J. have had Milton Berle?" You ask me to mail in my proxy, although nothing special is coming up except electing directors and renewing the Price Waterhouse auditing contract. Okay. The directors are the same as last year and there have been no complaints, except that one or two were seen buying gas at a Texaco station. (Price Waterhouse have been doing the auditing for 19 years and should have begun to get the hang of it by now I guess.)

I got the folder with the photographs of all the directors and executives. They photograph

That is because taxpayers believe it takes a military mind to catch a military mind on the spending propositon. They doubt if military spenders would try to fool a five-star general who formerly was an army chief of staff; he would know too much about the military mind, American style.

This is not the same as the military mind, Prussian style, which all civilian governments fear. It is more complex and infinitely more charming. But it has a blind spot, too. Twice too much of everything.

The generals and admirals are not satisfied even then; they want thrice too much and more, if they can get it. Everything they want is urgent, moreover, and can be denied them only at the cost of national security.

There is no point of military satiety, in other words. Anyone who sets a limit of military spending can expect the spenders to react in one of two ways.

Either they will refuse to pay any attention at all, or they will try to turn it into an absurdity by economizing on essentials and continuing to splurge on non-essentials.

President Eisenhower's work is cut out for him. His former comrades-at-arms are under the presidential guns now.

Ignorance, Not Subversion

Chances are you belong to none of the 62 organizations which have been added to a previous list of 192 subversive organizations in the United States.

Chances are that not a single one of these 254 outfits rigged to rope in the gullible ever drew a flicker of interest from your calm and practiced eye.

You are not one of the kind that can be sucked into a front for a gang of ax-grinders. For one thing, you are too smart to be talked into lending either your name or your money to any organization you do not fully understand For another thing, you are too loyal to line up with any outfit which seeks to do injury to the American way of life by undermining any of the cardinal principles of Americanism.

But thousands and tens of thousands of Americans have been roped in by the 254 organizations so flagrantly subversive that the Department of Justice keeps their names on a master list, to warn the public. There are others, but they haven't made the list.

Hundreds of thousands will continue to be victimized by organizations which will be rigged up from day to day and week to week to make suckers of people who join first and ask questions afterward, if they get around to asking questions at all.

Subversion in the United States could not exist five minutes without indifference and ignorance. There are not enough subversives in the whole country to fill a hall. But the ones who are here can count on an endless supply of dupes who will do the dirty work and furnish the funds out of pure, unalloyed ignorance.

That is the menace to the American dream—Ignorance.

A scientist says this is the age of insects, rather than man. He must be thinking ahead to vacation days.

Anyone can buy all of Uncle Sam's bonds he can. It takes a real American to buy some he "can't."

Back in 1933 not a single "left winger" protested congressional investigations when men of good character were pilloried in investigations of banks and banking practices. The "left wing" reveled in them.

The most important thing that has happened in the last 100 days is not such secondary issues as whether congressional investigations are good or bad but whether the Eisenhower administration is succeeding in getting an upper hand in the "cold war."

balanced budgets.

Unemployment wasn't cured until the war in Europe broke out six years later. Yet the tide against Hooverism was running so strong that in the congressional election of 1934 the Democrats increased their majority. The Democrats ran Hoover as an opponent every election after that and not without some success.

The Republicans, by running against Trumanism in 1954, may make political history repeat itself.

Springtime Riots

By TRUMAN TWILL

Princeton University has had its annual springtime riot. Other colleges and universities will undergo the same thing this year, as they have been doing every year since the Year 1.

Yet, whenever spring-maddened students run amuck after being cooped up all winter, it is as though no one ever had heard of a campus riot before. The college authorities declare an emergency. The police and fire departments, which are called in to help put down the insurrection, make the same blunders and suffer the same consequences.

Trucks and cars are tipped over on their sides. Uniforms are torn. There is legal recourse taken by parents whose hopefuls' heads were bashed in by some overzealous flatfoot who flunked the eighth grade three times and was out.

The whole thing is as standardized and stereotyped as a panty raid, a pep meeting, a commencement exercise, or a campus red hunt. But every time it happens, a lot of people who draw pay for not being morons prove they are morons after all.

Campus riots are only one of a number of things which happens over and over again in this country and are viewed with surprise and alarm every time they happen.

Every spring it is rediscovered there is a pork shortage in the United States because all the mama pigs are busy having little pigs.

At the close of every football season it is rediscovered that some of the colleges which had outstanding teams should have had them because they bought them and paid for them in the open market.

It is discovered periodically that so - called amateur basketball players who get tired of seeing all the easy money go to their exploiters have been corrupted by gamblers.

It is discovered to the utter astonishment of everybody concerned that the administration of New York City is hopelessly corrupt and has been that way for more than a century.

It is discovered that the direct primary is a fool-proof way of turning up some of the oddest fish ever dredged out of the sea of political despondency.

It is always being rediscovered that the result of parental neglect is juvenile delinquency—and has been so discovered ever since the time of Jacob and Esau.

It is always being rediscovered that United States soldiers—best-equipped on earth—never have galoshes when it begins to snow in Europe, never have the right shoes for an invasion of Kiska and Attu, are caught short on winter clothing in Korea, always lack-up-to-date tanks, guns and planes and are chronically unhappy about the food.

Yet, every time another rabbit nibbles on lettuce, another crook robs an unguarded till, another human being behaves like a human being, there is a great hue and cry. Someone calls the police and fire departments. The policemen and firemen behave as though they never had heard of a campus riot, a pep rally, a traffic jam, or whatever it happens to be until that very moment.

They cracked heads and threw around threats of expulsion like dollar bills in a night club when Princeton had its annual springtime riot this year. They'll do it next year, too, and every year.

CROSSTOWN — By Roland Coe

"We're having lunch downtown to celebrate our birthday. We're eleven years old today."

ever, in an exclusive interview, asserted that such elections would be futile.

The head of this miniature state is cool to Adenauer's self-assumed role as "Protector of the Saar." Saarland delegates have been negotiating in Paris since February to revise their economic treaty with France and have reported back to Hoffman in self-satisfied terms that have caused the government to believe that further free elections could be held at any time to a result that the administration could return triumphantly to power.

What Adenauer wants is for it to be mandatory on the Saar government to license pan-German nationalist parties to campaign for power, but the Saarlanders, mindful of what happened to them in 1935, when they voted solidly to join Hitler's Reich, say in public, and in private talks in bars and restaurants, that they want to be let alone to work out their own destinies. They have political parties of their own parallel with those in West Germany and elsewhere and they don't want carpetbaggers from Germany making fervent appeals in the name of nationalism "To come home to the Reich."

tary union.

When it is ratified, it is agreed that the French ambassador in Saarbruecken will lose his present special powers, and have no powers greater than the envoy of any other nation.

The other major concession is that when a European union is formed, the customs and monetary agreement will lapse to permit the Saarlanders to join it as a contracting state similar to Luxembourg. European union is the main goal of Saarland policy.

Justice Minister Heintz Braun, one of the chief international negotiators, said: "It is our dream to be a bridgehead between France and Germany in forming a United States of Europe. Our present economic union with France is bread-and-butter politics that we cannot upset at present without harming the trade and industries of our people.'

Hoffman explains the importance of the new convention as follows: "It means that we shall benefit by the same rights as the other members of the European political community. The French man nationalists did achieve a majority at the polls, the veto would prevent any realization of their ambitions. So elections as Adenauer wants them would be futile.

A German paper, Die Welt, sees the Adenauer statements as good German politics. It says: "Germany cannot renounce her rights to the Saar because of the federal elections this fall."

Use of this term "Rights to the Saar" infuriates Saarlanders.

"It is Saarland coal here and we Saarlanders work it," Max Schmid, a miner, said. "We must be the ones who say where it goes."

The Bonn General - Anzeiger writes: "Washington promised Rene Mayer and Georges Bidault to indorse Europeanization of the Saar. Adenauer was irritated when President Eisenhower lived up to that promise."

Premier Mayer looks to the building of the Saar into independent status in European union as a token French contribution toward the pacification of Western Europe.

Satellites

By JAY G. HAYDEN

While President Eisenhower's peace offensive was aimed solely at Moscow, every available propaganda device both of the United States and its allies has been employed in pumping this speech into the Communist satellite countries.

An inkling of what is hoped for from this widespread barrage may be found in an interview last week with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia by Charles Foltz Jr., European News Editor of U. S. News and World Report.

While scouting the notion that "Moscow would suddenly take her hands off the satellite countries," Tito predicted that the change in Russian rulers would have profound effects everywhere behind the Iron Curtain.

Asked which he considered "The weakest points in the Soviet satellite system" Tito said, "Bulgaria is among the weakest and, after Bulgaria, then Czechoslovakia."

Yugoslavia's return of agriculture to a voluntary basis, Tito said, increased peasant discontent especilly in Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary.

Mao Tse-tung of China, he said, probably never was "a satellite—as Hungary and the other countries of Eastern Europe have been satellites. He (Mao) will have more of a free hand now because the single fountain-head of authority, which was Moscow, is no longer there. They have avoided open conflict up to now, although I have reason to know that there was friction between China and Russia."

Tito counseled that "It would be a mistake to deal with Russia on Chinese questions. You have got to deal with China on Chinese questions."

U. S. experts long have been eying Bulgaria as the next best prospect for a Titoist breakaway from Russia. First, they say, Bulgaria, like Yugoslavia, does not directly border Russia. Second, Bulgaria does border east, south and west the three countries recently united in an anti-Communist defense pact — Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey. Because it is open on three sides of the anti-Communist world, Bulgaria could receive the same help Yugoslavia has received since its breakaway. There is the difference, on the other hand, that whereas Yugoslavia never was occupied by Russian soldiers, Bulgaria was held by Russian troops for three years after World War II and the present Bulgarian army of 200,000 is strictly a Soviet creation. Its arms all come from Russia and probably also a large share of its officers.

MONTREAL (AP)—A call to Canadian youth to seek adventure in the Canadian north was sounded by Lt.-Col. P. D. Baird, director of the Montreal office of the Arctic Institute of North America. In an address here he said disappointingly few young Canadians volunteered when expeditions are being fitted out to explore Arctic regions.

FBI Agent Spots Wanted Man at Track

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—An alert FBI agent yesterday arrested one of its 10 most wanted men at Churchill Downs as the man sauntered away from a $50 betting window at the famous race track.

Taken into custody was Joseph Levy, described by the FBI as a notorious swindler and confidence man.

The agent who made the arrest recognized Levy through photographs in the "wanted" files. Shortly before the arrest the FBI had distributed a new release for 7 a. m. today, announcing that Levy had been placed on the "10 most wanted list".

Can't Drive? OK Then, Says He, I'll Sit It Out

STAFFORD, Va. (AP) — A young Virginia motorist has parked his car beside the courthouse here and says he'll make it his home for the duration of a 30-day suspension of his driver's license.

Today began the fourth day of a sit-down wait by Johnny Franklin Fisher, 20.

Fisher was fined $200 and his permit suspended Tuesday after state police arrested him for speeding.

Apparently indifferent and unworried, Fisher—who police say lives in Alexandria—has spent most of his time so far sleeping and tinkering with his automobile.

Says Trial Justice Bascom S. Pribble Jr., who ordered Fisher's driving permit suspended:

"As long as he's quiet and doesn't do any harm, I have no objections to him sitting there."

OWU Students To Take Part In Political Work

DELAWARE — Students interested in gaining practical experience in politics will be given a helping hand and college credi this summer by the Ben A. Arneson Institute of Practical Politics of Ohio Wesleyan University.

The Citizenship Field Training Program of the Institute is now open to all students at the University, according to William H. Eells, associate director of the Institute.

During the few years it has been in operation the program has attracted nation-wide attention because of its positive approach toward interesting students in government and politics.

The Institute aids the student interested in the program by making the initial contacts with political leaders in his own community and state. In addition, the Institute gives the student one or two college credits according to the amount of work he puts into his political assignment.

Students may work with a party, person or program engaged in political activity, or may choose to work, with or without pay, in a government office, city hall, courthouse, state house, or branch office of a federal agency.

R. L. McCollister Of Marion Takes Bride in Illinois

A nuptial high mass in the Church of the Immaculate Conception at Mattoon, Ill., Tuesday morning, solemnized the marriage of Miss Betty Lahey of that city and Robert L. McCollister of Marion. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lahey of Mattoon and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Gertrude McCollister of 181½ W. Center St.

The pastor, the Rev. Daniel Daly, officiated for the 9 o'clock ceremony and was the celebrant of the mass. Baskets of white gladioli were on the main altar. Presiding at the organ was Mrs. Doyle Kopp, and Miss Florence McShane sang.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gray dressmaker suit with which she combined yellow accessories and a yellow glamellia corsage. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Jane Lahey.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was Clarke Byrnes of Fostoria, and seating the guests were Robert Murphy and Larry Orthmeyer, both of Marion.

Says 2,538 Captives Died Of Privations

Returned Prisoner Tells of Starvation, Disease in Red Camps

TOKYO (AP)—A returned prisoner who said he had access to Communist medical records in North Korea today said he had learned of 2,538 captive Allies who died of starvation and disease in less than a year.

Sgt. James F. Daniel, Alameda, Calif., said 931 Allies died of malnutrition and lack of medical care in 2½ months at the now infamous "Death Valley."

That was the prisoner name for a sort of way station between Kunu and the far North Korean prison camps at Pyoktong.

The 931 deaths came between Dec. 26, 1950, and March 14, 1951, Daniel said.

Later 1,607 Allied captives died at Pyoktong's Camp No. 5 on the Yalu River, Daniel said, of "just starvation and disease."

That was during the first seven months of 1951.

Daniel, a medic, said he had access to Communist medical records because he was helping care for sick and wounded at Death Valley and later at Pyoktong.

Daniel former member of the U. S. 2nd Division, was captured at Kunu Dec. 1, 1950 after he was wounded in the left shoulder.

He said he and 200 men, who were with 71 wounded were captured in a Communist road block.

Daniel said the 71 wounded were being carried in four ambulances, two six-by-sixes and a weapons carrier. The Chinese "shot-up" these vehicles at night, Daniel said. The Reds might not have known the vehicles carried wounded, he added.

The sergeant said the "able-200 Americans fought until they ran out of ammunition and then surrendered "to save the wounded."

Daniel added:

The decision to surrender was made by an artillery officer and a doctor.

The Chinese took the 200 "able-bodied" men captives and left the wounded behind. He still does not know what happened to the 71 wounded.

"Everybody was sick" at "Death Valley" and at Camp No. 5, Daniel said.

The "Death Valley" between Kunu and Pyoktong is one of two valleys given the grim label by American captives of the Communists. The other "Death Valley" was north of the Chongjin Reservoir.

Ohioan Has Plan to Cut Waste of Tax Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Weichel (R-Ohio) proposes that money appropriated by Congress be given to government agencies on a quarterly basis.

He told the House yesterday his plan would halt much of "the abuses, misspending and waste of the taxpayers' money."

Under Weichel's bill, money still would be appropriated annually, but would be doled out to the agencies in three-month installments.

"If a bureau does not justify its spending . . . in the previous quarter," Weichel said in a statement for the Congressional Record, "the next quarterly installment should be reduced and those responsible should be called to account."

Says Schools Being Sent Propaganda By Red Envoys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bow (R-Ohio) says Communist diplomatic offices in Washington are sending public school libraries "Socialist propaganda of the rankest kind."

He called on the office of education to alert the nation's high schools and colleges to the "true nature and the inherent danger" in such publications.

He also suggested the Postoffice Department draw up regulations requiring that "any literature from a Communist country" should be so labelled.

Bow, in a House speech Thursday referred directly to the Hungarian legation and a magazine called "New Hungary."

He said the magazine paints Hungary as a land where "all is moonlight and roses."

Report Ashley Station Will Not Be Closed

Special to The Star

ASHLEY — The New York Central Railroad station here will not be closed, according to a report received from the Columbus law firm of Sanborn, Nacey and Brandon.

The firm sent word to the Delaware County Farm Bureau that the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has adopted the recommendation of its examiner, James L. Fuller Jr., not to close the station. Previously, railroad officials had asked that the Ashley station be discontinued.

The Columbus law firm represented the interests of the Ashley branch of the Delaware County Farm Bureau, the R. B. Powers Co., the Ashley Baby Chick Co. and others who objected to the closing of the station because of the volume of freight picked up here for them.

10% Rise Over Year Ago Indicated

U.S. Business Profits Up

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—American business appears to be piling up 10 per cent more profits than a year ago — and about as much as it did two years ago.

The first 306 companies to report net income after taxes for the first three months of this year show their combined profits 10 per cent higher than the first quarter of 1952 — which was about that much below the 1951 period.

Nearly three-fourths of the reporting companies are running ahead of last year. A year ago two-thirds of the companies were running behind their 1951 earnings. This year 101 companies dropped behind — 10 operated in the red, the same number as a year ago.

The best group showings this year are by the airlines, aircraft and retail — each has profits three times as large as a year ago. Others that are doing much better than a year ago are: Appliances, up 45 per cent; food, up 34 per cent; beverages, up 22 per cent; textiles and cement, each up 20 per cent; and motors up 19 per cent.

Groups falling behind include: Coal, down 59 per cent; drugs, down 7 per cent; and oil, down 3 per cent. Groups which have the largest percentage of firms falling behind include: Coal, oil, steel, mining, business machines and drugs.

The reports of 386 companies, of course, is only a sampling. Final figures may change the picture.

And the accounting is confused because some companies figure their excess profits tax on a full year basis, and others on a half-year basis, expecting it to lapse in June. If EPT expires on schedule, some company earnings will look even brighter.

Rails show a 19 per cent gain as a whole, to lead the major divisions. Utilities are up 10 per cent, and industrials are up 9 per cent.

For the 386 corporations as a whole, profits come to $1,377,791,247. In the first three months of 1952 the same companies had combined earnings of $1,249,965,139.

The good showing of most corporations reflects the generally booming production rate of the economy — now at a peacetime record high.

HPM Reports $174,100 Profit

Quarterly Sales Set At $3,588,149

Net sales of $3,588,149 for the first quarter of 1953 were listed by the Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co. of Mt. Gilead in a report to the stockholders. Profits, after provision for federal income tax, amounted to $174,100.

Officers of the company are G. B. Robinson, chairman of the board; John C. Cotner, president and general manager; John M. Dolan, vice president and general sales manager; G. A. Daniels, secretary and treasurer; W. N. Woodward, assistant secretary; and R. D. Ruhrmund, assistant treasurer.

Lid Clamped On News Of POW Flights

Speculate Latest Group Includes Those Who Fell for Red Line

HONOLULU (AP)—A third big hospital plane carrying 22 sick and wounded Americans home from Communist prison camps was due here late last night, but news of its arrival was buried under a blanket of Army silence.

An Army spokesman said he had received orders classifying movements of repatriates as "secret for security and compassionate" reasons. The spokesman, Maj. Douglas W. Mitchell, said he could not explain "compassionate."

The secrecy was so complete it led to speculation the latest flight might be carrying prisoners who may have succumbed to Communist indoctrination during their captivity.

The Army refused to say whether the plane arrived, how many were aboard and who they are.

Forty-one sick and wounded veterans arrived late yesterday before the blackout began. It was the second freedom airlift plane to return disabled soldiers. The first, carrying 35 men passed through Honolulu Tuesday, with little restriction on news coverage although no interviews were allowed.

The secrecy extended to names of the 41 disabled Americans who arrived yesterday from Tokyo.

Repatriates on freedom airlift flights two and three are from 32 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. They bring to 98 the number of former prisoners returned out of 149 Americans released last week by the Reds at Panmunjom.

Before the news blackout, Army spokesmen said the 63 new arrivals would be given medical checkups and a complete rest before leaving for the mainland.

Convicts 30 Of Rioting In Ohio Strike

PAINESVILLE, O. (AP) — A Municipal Court judge convicted 30 Industrial Rayon Co. employes today of violating the riot act and said they had delivered a severe blow to the labor cause.

Four other workers accused of rioting during a strike at the company last February were acquitted.

Judge Albert Hayer told the 30 "not only have they violated and flaunted the laws of their state, but by their conduct have delivered a severe blow to unions, their ideals and purposes.

"Every man and woman associated in any way with labor should be outspoken in their condemnation of the gangster tactics."

The judge said he would pronounce sentence May 11. Maximum penalty is 30 days in jail and a $500 fine.

Stones were hurled and car windows broken during the short-lived and unauthorized strike.

A Marion sailor, Boatswain's mate First Class Richard Endricks, was aboard the U. S. aircraft carrier Bennington where a boiler accident Sunday off Guantanamo Bay in the Caribbean claimed the lives of 11 American seamen and injured four others.

The seaman's mother, Mrs. Henry J. Roberts of 351 Fahey St., doesn't think he was injured as she hasn't received any word and because he doesn't work in the boiler portion of the ship.

Endricks entered the service in November of 1950 and took his boot training at Great Lakes, Ill. He was stationed at its Jacksonville, Fla. Naval yards and Memphis, Tenn., before leaving from Norfolk, Va., aboard the ship.

He attended Central Junior High School and was employed at the Marion Engineer Depot before entering the service. His wife, the former Miss Shirley Solomon of Arlington, Tenn., resides there.

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today criticized cuts by the Republican-controlled Ohio House which Thursday approved an 823 million dollar budget to run the state for the next two years.

"The drastic cut of nine million dollars out of the welfare department is not rooted in reason," the governor told newsmen.

"The reduction of the six millions out of the salary account and one million out of the food account definitely will cripple the operations of the mental institutions of Ohio.

"The money allocated will barely permit the operation of the present institutions with reasonable consideration for the patients and their relatives without any consideration for the new institutions that are ready for opening and in the process of construction for future openings."

Selections by the orchestra at the night concert included, "Prelude and Fugue in D Minor," Handel-Kindler; "Andante Cantabile" from "Symphony No. 1," Beethoven; "Bacchanale" from "Samson and Dililah," Saint-Saens; selections from the show "New Moon," Romberg-Paul; "Mood Americana," Gerald Humel; "The Emperor Waltz," Strauss. As an encore, the orchestra played "Blue Tango."

For its program, the band played the numbers, "Achilles," an overture, St. Clair; "March" from "Symphony No. 6," Tschaikowsky-Norma; the first movement of "Concerto Grosso," Handel-Malin, arranged for two solo flutes and solo clarinet, with the band, soloists, Julia Gorman and Sue Foreman, flutes, Erman Seckel, clarinet; a medley of Cole Porter songs by Russel Bennett led by Mr. Lane; "The Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa, featuring all trumpets and trombones along with piccolo on the chorus, with Julia Gorman playing the piccolo; and "South Pacific Selections," Rodgers-Leidzen.

Novelty Number Played

An encore by the band was a novelty number, "The Peck Horn's Revenge," featuring the alto horns in the band, with Shirley Mathias as narrator.

To conclude the program, the band played the school fight song, "The Red and Black."

Airport Aid Asked for Ohio A-Plant Area

Taft, Bricker Suggest Govt. Add $100,000 To Help Pay for It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Taft and Bricker, Ohio Republicans, have asked the Senate Appropriations Committee to give "earnest consideration" to approving $100,000 for construction of an airport near the new atomic plant in Southern Ohio.

They did so in sending the committee a statement from the Airport Committee of Scioto County.

The committee, representing business and civic interests in Portsmouth, O., told the Senate committee Scioto County voters last November voted heavily for a $400,000 bond issue to build the airport.

The bonds have been sold and the money is in the bank, the airport committee stated.

The Ohioans said the plan "has greatly increased the need for the airport."

They said they feel the government has an "unfulfilled obligation" to match the local funds.

"We have been repeatedly assured by the Civil Aeronautics Administration representatives that federal matching funds would be available under the provisions of the national airport act," the Ohioans stated.

"One of the factors which strengthened the public feeling toward the dire need for an airport was the location of the $1,219,000,000 Atomic Energy Commission gaseous diffusion plant just 18 miles north of Portsmouth and less than 14 miles from the proposed airport site."

The senators were told further there is now "no safe, adequate airport in the entire Southern Ohio area."

The Ohioans said economic studies show Scioto County has a "phenomenally large potential for air transportation."

Parade, Engineer Depot Open House Scheduled

"Armed Forces Day" Plans Made

The Marion Armed Forces Day committee made further plans for the parade in Marion May 14 when it held its third meeting Wednesday night at the Marion Engineer Depot.

The group will meet again next Wednesday to map out the definite route and sequence of the parade. Plans are to have the parade the biggest one yet in Marion.

It was announced the sesquicentennial queen and her court would ride in the parade and that a male and female representative of the Armed Services would ride in separate vehicles in the parade.

There will be a display of equipment from the Marion Engineer Depot. In conjunction with Armed Forces Day, open house will be observed at the Depot the afternoons of May 16 and 17, with a special display of equipment.

It was announced the parade will include an ROTC marching unit and band from Ohio Wesleyan University, the bands of Harding High School, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corp, and Eagles, a large group of Boy Scouts, Red Cross members, the Bloodmobile, veteran marching units, civilian and military dignitaries, a color guard and the grand marshall and his staff, and the Triangle Motorcycle Club.

The Bloodmobile will be on display during the open house celebration.

The parade's reviewing stand will be at the northeast corner of Main and Center Sts. in front of the courthouse.

Clyde Hardin is chairman of the parade committee.

Korean Describes Taking of 'Burning Heart Objective'

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)— The story was delivered by a Korean Marine captain and was entitled "How They Captured Heart Burning Objective."

Neatly below was the subtitle "Bravery of Lt. Chi Dong Yul."

An English purist, perhaps, would have laughed and called the story quaint. You judge:

"At 0418 in the dawn the attack was commenced. The enemy poured all automatic weapons and mortar fire like downpour into our assault unit.

"Since the assault unit climbed 30 per cent of hill, lots of enemy hand grenades were thrown. In spite of all this Lt. Chi. When Lt. Chi and his platoon reached 40 yards of enemy position he was hitted by hand grenade and fell to the ground. The fragments of the hand grenade hitted his face and chin. The chin was broken and bleeded like a fountain pen. Although he was hitted he continue controlling his platoon. Lt. Chi refused all efforts of his men when they tried to keep him in rear.

"After just one hours fierce fighting the objective hill was completely occupied. After the success to capture the enemy position, Chi was treated first aid and evacuated."

Taxes

the appropriation cuts that will justify a tax reduction."

Eisenhower declined to speculate on possible additional tax reductions and Taft, the Senate Republican leader, significantly withheld any predictions on this score.

But the Ohio Senator said in an interview he doubts that any firm estimates will be given Congress in the present session on federal spending, which he said "will determine tax policy and whether there is a deficit."

Many Republicans promised a balanced budget and reduced levies in last year's political campaign, but Eisenhower has said he made no pledge to cut taxes.

Eisenhower announced he will ask Congress to vote 8½ billion dollars less than the $72,900,000,000 in new appropriations former President Truman had recommended for the coming year.

But Eisenhower declined to say how much of that would be represented in actual savings at the Treasury's pay-out window, although Rep. Short (R-Mo) previously had estimated the amount at $4,400,000,000.

It is the Treasury's actual income and outgo—not what Congress appropriates for this and future years—that determines whether the budget is balanced. The government can spend more than is appropriated because more than 100 billions voted in previous years has not yet been paid out.

ATTACKS WELFARE CUTS

SPRINGFIELD, O. (AP) — Mrs. Marion S. Wells of Newark, executive secretary of the Ohio Mental Health Association, Inc., said Thursday the Ohio House Finance Committee's cut in appropriations for the state welfare department was "sickening politics." Mrs. Wells said a cut of six million dollars for operations and a million for food represented the "lifeblood for the whole program of services in Ohio."

H-Bomb Hint Comes From Commission

"Devices" Reported Releasing Energy On "Large Scale"

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission implied today—for the first time—that it has actual "devices" in the hydrogen bomb line presumably crude models, and that they release atomic energy on a "large scale."

Up to now, the commission has couched its references to developments in hydrogen bomb research in scientific double - talk, saying only that certain atomic tests at Enieweok have "contributed to thermonuclear research."

The word "bomb" is almost never used; weapons tested are "devices." Up to now the commission has referred only to "nuclear devices" — never "thermonuclear devices" which would refer to H-bombs.

But today Dr. Thomas H. Johnson, research director for the AEC, made a speech at the annual spring meeting of the American Physical Society. He was talking about the commission's interest in research machines such as cyclotrons, linear accelerators and Van de Graaf generators — or "atom-smashing" machines. He said:

"The interest to the AEC in research done with some of those machines is related to the fact that they produce under controlled conditions on a laboratory scale the same reactions that are involved in the large scale release of energy in fission and theonuclear devices."

Red Agents Attempt To Steal German Engineer

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Austrian police last night reported an attempt by Soviet agents in Vienna to kidnap a former airplane designer of the German World War II Heinkel works.

The engineer was stopped on the street Wednesday night near his home by two men who posed as police officials, the report said. The two attempted to force him into an automobile, but their quarry struggled free and escaped over a garden fence.

Do Ike's, Truman's Really Differ?

The Mobilization Program

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—When this country began to mobilize after the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950, there were two schools of thought on how it should be done.

Some people exasperated at the Communists and worried whether worse was coming, wanted all-out mobilization, with the armed forces built up tremendously and fast and the whole economy turned to defense.

Others, including former President Truman, felt the Russians weren't yet ready for a world war and that this country could build up to preparedness at a pace less than all-out and still keep the economy close to normal.

That was the plan adopted and mobilization began. The basic intention was to produce arms, increase the size of the armed forces and get factories built or ready in such a way that if war really came they could go all-out quickly.

The years 1954 or 1955 were considered possibly critical years. So the defense build-up was aimed at being ready by that time. But the spending on defense was not to end then. Members of the Truman administration said this country might have to keep prepared for a generation.

Yesterday President Eisenhower had a news conference, described beforehand as momentous, and was very critical of the Truman defense program. He called it a "crazy-quilt".

Eisenhower called his policy a "radical" change.

"This policy," he said, "will not be tied to any magic, critical year which then has to be 'stretched out' because of economic or production problems, but will be based on the sounder theory that a very real danger not only exists this year, but may continue to exist for years to come."

But where there is a "radical" difference between this viewpoint and the Truman administration's viewpoint is difficult to see, although the President may at a later date explain more fully what he has in mind.

The Truman administration had talked of building up by 1954 or 1955 to a point thought safe and then continuing to keep the country prepared.

Eisenhower was asked how his long-range policy differed from Truman's. He said: If we have a maximum figure at a certain date, how can we level out and maintain what we must do in orderly fashion without making the economic factor secondary.

(The President had previously what the Truman administration was talking about may lie in Eisenhower's use of the word "maximum".

Maximum preparedness would call for all-out mobilization which was what was not done or planned. But at the same time Eisenhower announced that, whereas Truman had asked Congress to appropriate $72,900,000,000 for the fiscal year starting next July, he hoped to ask for only $64,400,000,000, a cut of 8½ billion dollars.

But there is a difference between what Congress votes in the way of money to be spent and the amount of money actually spent in a year. Congress may cut appropriations 8½ billion or more for next year and yet the spending next year may not be reduced even half that much. This is the reason:

There is a backlog of contracts which will be filled in 1954 and which will have to be paid with money appropriated by Congress in previous years. For example, the government can't, with money appropriated by Congress in one year, order tanks that year and get and pay for them next year. The tanks may not be ready for two to four years.

The point is that Congress some years before voted money to pay for the tanks when delivered. The appropriation cut mentioned by Eisenhower may be felt a year from now rather than next year, which would mark a real leveling off of the defense program.

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Jules Dubois, chairman of the Press Fredom Committee of the Inter-American Press Association, arrived yesterday to confer with President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra on the current rift between the government and Ecuador's press.

Velasco closed down two anti-government newspapers in Guayaquil, La Nacion and La Hora, and jailed the owner and four other executives.

Another imprisoned newsman Jorge Mantilla, Quito publisher and also a member of the Press Freedom Committee, was freed yesterday.

Dubois, Latin America correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, said he would ask the President to re-open the newspapers and release the imprisoned newsmen.

Convicted Of Killing Woman He Called Witch

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—An Arizona rancher was convicted of second degree murder by a jury last night for killing a woman he claimed had practiced witchcraft.

Joe S. Chavez, 45, faces a penalty of 10 years to life in prison.

Chavez was accused of shooting Mrs. Maria Estrella Miranda, 41, in her home near the tiny Yaqui Indian village of Guadalupe, south of Phoenix, last Sept. 12.

The week-long trial brought out a strange tale of belief in witchcraft by many of Mrs. Miranda's neighbors, and equally strong denials from a few friends.

A confession Chavez purportedly signed and introduced by the prosecution quoted Chavez as saying he had shot the woman because she placed a curse on his wife and caused her to go blind. Six women who lived near the Miranda home testified she was a witch who could cast evil spells on those she disliked.

Former Marion Man's "Good Deed" On Radio Program

The "Good Samaritan" deed of a former Marion man, Richard Latimore, now in the U. S. Navy stationed aboard ship off the East Coast, was broadcast over a radio network from New York City Thursday when he appeared on an ABC program. Marion residents heard the show, "Turn to a Friend," over Station WMRN.

Several hundred dollars worth of awards were won by the Navy man for a needy family, the mother appearing also on the radio program. His accomplishment was correctly identifying and matching words in three groups which were given him by the master of ceremonies.

A graduate of Harding High School, he has been in service a year and three months and lives at Newport, R. I. at present. Either his ship had made a visit to New York, or he was there on a few days leave, his mother, Mrs F. D. Latimore of near Marion, said. She had not known previously that he would be on Thursday's radio program. He is married to the former Miss Mary Lou Barkalow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Russell Barkalow of E. Center St. also a Harding High School graduate. His basic training was received at San Diego, Calif., and he has been based at Newport since last fall. He is a ship's fireman.

Season Set June 8-Sept. 4

Plans Announced For 13-Week Recreation Program at City Park

Details of a 13-week summer recreation program at Lincoln Park were announced today by newly appointed Marion recreation director Walker J. Huffman of near LaRue.

Beginning June 8 the program will run until Sept. 4 with special events planned each week and activities each day for children of all age groups.

Organized activities will be concentrated on week days from Monday through Friday. On Saturdays and Sundays equipment will be issued for various sports and other activities, but no organized or supervised programs are planned.

Plans call for the park to be open from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. week days. Saturday hours will be the same and Sunday hours will be from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Huffman said no organized programs will be held on Saturday because so many children go to the movies or have various other activities on Saturday afternoons.

Won't Interfere

Also it was thought best not to interfere with reunions, group picnics and similar other programs held at the park on Sundays with organized recreational programs, Huffman said.

Some of the special events planned but still in the talking stage will include a Bible School for the first two weeks, a Parent's Night week, a Sports Day, Hobby Week, plus special programs which may be sponsored by such groups as the YMCA, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, and others.

The Parents Night week will be used to exhibit various activities carried on at the park to acquaint the parents with what is accomplished, Huffman said.

Sports Day, to be held on the last day of the season on Sept. 4, will include an annual picnic and track and field contests.

Week-day schedules will include weekly tournaments in both team and individual sports. Individual sports, which will feature singles and doubles tourneys, will include badminton, ping pong, and horseshoe pitching.

Team or organized sports to be set up are volleyball, softball, dodge ball, and basketball. There will be both boys and girls teams with the number and type of teams to be determined by the interest in the various age groups.

These are for the sports minded youngsters. For those who are not interested in the active sports there will be an arts and crafts program and for the small fry, ages 3 to 8, there will be a large sandbox and individual games. The sandbox will be a large wading pool at the park which is to be filled with sand and equipped with play equipment.

Supervision will be in charge of Huffman who is to have three assistants. One male assistant will help supervise the team and individual sports, one woman assistant will supervise the arts and crafts program, and another woman will supervise the small-fry.

None Chosen

He said none of his assistants have yet been chosen and asked that any college students returning to Marion for the summer, particularly those majoring or minoring in physical education, send applications to the Marion Recreation Commission through the mayor's office. Inducements for filing applications are salaries up to $40 a week for the women assistants, and up to $45 a week for the male assistant. In addition, there's the possibility some college credit hours may be earned in the positions during the summer, he said.

Decision to concentrate the entire summer recreation program at Lincoln Park was made by the recreation commission because of limited funds. (It is appropriated $3,000 a year to pay all expenses.)

Improvement Seen

In the past it has been the practice to hire a supervisor and an assistant for each park and even though the pay was small this took all available funds to pay salaries, one commission member said. The small pay and lack of equipment also resulted in little or no organized recreation and what programs there were ran only from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. week days, he said.

He pointed out this was in spite of the fact a survey of the city's recreation needs sponsored by the Rotary Club five years ago disclosed that a full - time, year-around recreation director is needed.

This year's program is in the form of an experiment on a limited basis to see what might be accomplished with a full-time director, he said.

The recreation commission is composed of R. T. Mason, chairman, and Dr. D. W. Brickley Jr., and Harold F. Henry.

Versatile "Big Red"

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Most men spend their lives trying to learn to do one thing well.

Sherman Frank ("Big Red") Crise, who broke his pocketbook in the Bronx on his own account and later busted his back in Burma for Uncle Sam, doesn't fit in any simple pigeonhole. It is hard to figure something this gusty, six-foot, 250-pounder hasn't tried — and done well.

"I guess racing has been my real business," he said. "The things I love are speed, money and machinery.

"I like playing with an engine more than anything else in the world, but you can't make real money getting your fingers dirty, so I turned to promoting."

"Big Red" is one of the first two men to pioneer midget car racing in America and at 47 is one of the key figures in the nation's 80 million dollar a year auto racing industry.

"Of course, it's fast and dangerous," he said, grinning. "But I have promoted more than 500 races since the war — and there hasn't been a driver killed in one yet."

"Big Red" has always enjoyed living life at full throttle. He trained as a Navy flier at Pensacola, studied banking, engineering and economics. He went into Wall Street, made a fast buck, and got out before the 1929 boom fell apart.

Then he became a spedboat, hydroplane, and airplane racer and set a few records.

"In 1933 I started promoting midget car racing in the Bronx," he recalled ruefully, "and in two years I dropped $168,000."

But "Big Red" always seemed to know where the greenbacks grew. By 1942, when he volunteered for war service, he was bossing 14 racing tracks.

"They shut down the tracks in seven days," he said. "The Navy turned me down as a flier, so I walked across the street and signed up with the Army Air Corps."

As a photographic pilot, Crise flew in every war theater from Kiska to Burma, helped map Brazilian jungles, and air - scouted beaches for the African and Sicilian invasions. While flying the Hump in 1945 he ran out of gas, parachuted and broke three vertebra. It took 12 days for the rescue party to get him back to his base.

"I walked the first nine days," he said, "but I couldn't stay on my feet the last three.

During a 17-week recovery period in a hospital near Miami, while awaiting discharge, he had a yacht basin built.

Today "Big Red" owns the yacht basin, a spark plug business, a 65-foot yacht, auto racing tracks at Allentown, Pa., and Washington, D. C., — and other oddments. He has logged more than 15,000 miles in the air, but no longer will take a plane up, and prefers to drive his $10,000 Jaguar sports car.

"I can fly any airplane in the world except the jets," he said, "but I stopped flying more than a year ago. Just scared stiff. Quit cold. Lost too many friends over the 26 years I flew.

"Now I'm just an old man who likes to live quietly in the country and take it easy in a 145-mile-an-hour sports car. And I'm getting so cautious I've only had it up to 120."

"Big Red" has two promotional dreams left. Next June he plans to pit 25 American stock cars against 25 foreign cars in a 200-mile race in a closed mile dirt track at the Langhorne Speedway near Philadelphia.

"I think the foreign sports car boys are turning into stuffed shirts," he said. "I'd like to see what they can do against Detroit stock models in a real race."

The other dream of "Big Red" is to build a non-profit "museum of speed" at Daytona Beach, where record - breaking vehicles of all kinds can be permanently exhibited. For this purpose he bought the late Sir Malcolm Campbell's famous five-ton "Bluebird" racer.

"I also want to put in the museum an engine that will run forever," he said. "It never has been done — but it can be."

"Big Red" says the museum will be his last promotion, and hopes it will stand as a monument to the love of his furious life—speeding men and machinery.

Galion Youth Held for Attack On Policeman

Special to The Star

GALION — Harold Taylor, 17, of four miles east of Galion, will be turned over to juvenile officers, following his arrest here, on Wednesday night, on a charge of resisting an officer.

Taylor, was riding in a car driven by Duane Bullard, 17, of Galion, when the car bumped into a truck that had stopped at a traffic signal on Harding Way East.

When patrolman Eugene Goldsmith investigated the mishap, Taylor attacked the policeman. In the scuffle, Goldsmith's trousers and shirt were torn, and his knee injured. David L. Corbin, an extra patrolman, joined in the fracas, and used a billystick to subdue Taylor.

Elmer Bullard Sr., father of Duane Bullard, driver of the car, was cited into mayor's court, Thursday, and fined $5 and costs for permitting his son to drive without an operator's permit.

1953 Traffic Deaths May Set Record

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's automobile deaths this year may come close to the record set in 1941 if the present trend continues, the National Safety Council predicted today.

Highway fatalities rose 4 per cent during the first three months of 1953, numbering 8,310 victims of traffic accidents. If the trend continues, the council said, there will be 1,500 more deaths in 1953 than the 38,000 in 1951. In 1941, there were 39,969 fatalities.

Inside Labor

Truth Suppressed

By Victor Riesel

I charge that there is a bloc of brass somewhere in the Pentagon which has deliberately suppressed the full truth of Sovietized bullet-in the back of-the neck executions of GI Prisoners of War — and has just as methodically told untruths about the disposal of evidence of this which was personally selected and forwarded by Gen. Ridgway as far back at late 1950.

RIESEL

In view of the grim fact that the Pentagon's policy of silence has not prevented Sovietized troops from massacreing our young GIs, and in the knowledge now before the world that the Peking armies still hold thousands of our soldiers, this story must be told now.

For two years the Pentagon has silenced even those who saw first hand the brutalizing of our men. Photographic evidence of this brutality was prepared for Gen. Ridgway.

THESE FILMS were cut up. The Pentagon, queried by the wire services, denied this. Here is evidence that someone in that military headquarters lied.

We start with a statement issued in Tokyo on Nov. 17, 1951, by Gen. Ridgway.

"The basic facts have long been known. As far back as October 1950, a movie film showing the recovered bodies of some of our soldiers was shown to a group of distinguished American citizens, the mayors of 200 of our cities," Ridgway said.

"This film, which I personally selected and, with the approval of the proper authority, exhibited in Washington, showed the bodies of these soldiers, each shot in the head, with their hands still tied behind their backs as they had been at the moment of their execution."

A few months ago, Rep. Timothy Shehan of Illinois asked to see the film. He was invited to be in Pentagon Room 5 B 1070 at 10:30 on the morning of Feb. 25. He arrived with a Congressman from California and one from New York.

THEY WERE taken into Projection Room. No. 2. A colonel then showed them a film, which obviously was not the Ridgway picture. It was a Signal Corps public relations documentary—ASSR-Corps Officer, signed by Lt. Col. Robert B. Tomlinson, came a letter to Rep. Shehan stating the original film "No longer exists as footage."

"It would not be possible to reassemble the footage in exactly the same continuity as presented in the original rough cut version," Lt. Col. Tomlinson wrote.

IT SEEMS TO ME that Defense Secretary Charles Wilson should get an answer to some very basic questions:

Why was a film which was personally selected by Gen. Ridgway cut to pieces?

Why was another print not made? Why has it been Pentagon policy to silence all atrocity stories—which were not propaganda concotions, but obviously documented revelations which the International Red Cross, neutral nations and other unimpeachable groups could have used as the basis for outcries to stop Soviet executions of our GIs?

WHY IS MILITARY intelligence silent now instead of revealing to the U.S. the full extent of the collaboration with the Sovietized Chinese of certain American pro-Communist labor leaders (not in the AFL and CIO) who helped in attempting to brainwash GI Prisoners of War?

Why isn't the full story told of the left wing laborites who collaborate with Howard Fast, the writer whose literature was used by the Sovietized Chinese for mental torture of our captured GIs?

From sources which are close to the AFL's Free Trade Union Committee comes evidence that right now this brainwashing torture is still being inflicted on our men.

THE AFL'S informants reveal that the Peking Department of Political Affairs of the Council of Military Affairs sent 14 of their English and Korean language political commissars to Mukden recently on a special assignment—the brainwashing of U.S. and South Korean POWs. These 14 were led by Chang Keh-chiang.

They succeeded in creating a central unit of six United States Air Force men—captured in the past few years—for special brainwashing and training in Mukden. They are five lieutenants and a sergeant.

The military has those names. Revelation of their background and association in the Chinese POW camps would startle this country.

Why all the silence? Who sets this policy?

Special Worship Service, Open House Planned

Emanuel Lutheran Church to Finish Dedication of New Addition Sunday

Concluding festivities marking dedication of the new educational building of Emanuel Lutheran Church will be held Sunday, with a special service for the morning worship hour observance, and open house in the afternoon.

This will be the last of four dedication Sundays set aside by the congregation to celebrate completion of the new unit. Church leaders in Ohio have been the scheduled speakers for these Sunday mornings. At the Sunday afternoon visiting hours, opportunity has been offered the public to view the new building and equipment, with organizations of the church acting as hosts and hostesses. The Rev. M. E. Hollensen is the church pastor.

Speaker next Sunday morning will be the Rev. Raymond A. Vogeley, executive secretary of the board of parish education, American Lutheran Church. Special music will be presented by the three choirs of the church, with a number by the combined Senior and Intermediate Choirs in addition. In the afternoon, the Young People's Missionary Society members will be the welcomers at open house time.

Speakers for the other three Sundays were Dr. Carl E. Linder, editor-in-chief of Sunday School literature, ALC, Dr. Gerhard H. Doermann, professor of Christian education in the Capital University Theological Seminary at Columbus, and Dr. Otto Ebert, president of the Ohio District of the denomination.

Necessity for the construction of a new building became apparent several years ago when the record of growth of the congregation became noticeably high. Plans were got underway, and a financial campaign pyramided the building fund to more than $190,000 in gifts and pledges, far over-reaching the original goal of $150,000.

A crowd of 500 persons witnessed ground breaking ceremonies on Sunday morning in August, 1951 Cornerstone laying was held in April, last year, and the then nearly completed new wing was put in use late in December.

This new structure provides individual classrooms for all Sunday School classes, ample facilities for all of the organizations of the church, and additional seating capacity for the worship services. Attendance at worship has grown from an average of 225 thirteen years ago to more than 600. Sunday School attendance average has increased from less than 250 to more than 450. On an average, 100 new members are received into the church each year. The new building will permit 200 more persons to attend services then could be present in the original church auditorium.

Constructed of brick in keeping with the original structure, it is located in the area to the rear of the church, and south. It was designed to provide 190 cubic feet of space including twice the floor area of the church, and is three stories high, with classrooms, rooms for social affairs, kitchens, and lounges on each floor. Its features include a modern church office, with library facilities, and reception room near the entrance. It has its own heating arrangement. Charles Oborn was the architect, and the Baldauf Construction Co., the builder. Ray Geer was building committee chairman, and in charge of various phases of the financial campaign were Carleton G. Case, Raymond Roecker, and Ivan Barnhart.

More than 800 visitors have inspected the new building and equipment during the three Sunday afternoon open house hours held previously, and it is expected that a large number will be welcomed next Sunday.

Columbus Bus Strike Off

Drivers Accept Pay Boost Offer

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Bus drivers cancelled their strike set for today after the Columbus Transit Co. offered an 11th-hour pact including an immediate 10½ cent an hour wage increase and an eventual 40-hour work week. They were earning $1.64½ an hour and working 48 hours.

But company Vice President Edward A. Pellissier said the company's offer was based on the assumption a committee of experts to be appointed by the mayor would recommend an "adequate" bus fare effective by July 15.

The agreement between the company and the CIO Transport Workers Union would be void if the city did not come through, Pellissier indicated.

Besides the immediate increase, the company will pay its 450 driv-

Catholic Women From Marion Attend Meeting

Members of St. Mary Parish Council joined other councils in the Columbus Diocese at the eighth annual spring conference of the National Council of Catholic Women Sunday, at Circleville. Approximately 1,200 women attended the afternoon meeting held in Memorial Hall.

The session closed with Pontifical Benediction in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, at which Bishop Michael J. Ready was celebrant. Bishop Ready also spoke at the afternoon program. In keeping with the theme of the conference, "Grant that we may never depart from Our Lady's Counsel," and in recognition of the need for more diocesan vocations, special emphasis was given to vocations in the talks and conferences. A talk was given by the Rev. Thomas W. Sabrey, consultant to the Council's religious activities committee, and taking part in a symposium were the Rev. Paul J. O'Dea, dean of studies at St. Charles Seminary, Mrs. Glenn Sheridan of Zanesville and Mother Catherine, O.L.V.M., of St. Colman's, Washington C. H.

Congregational singing for Benediction was directed by the Rev. Elmer Boyden, of Portsmouth, a former assistant pastor of St. Mary's, Marion.

Attending were Mrs. Robert Ramroth, president of the council, Mrs. George Wright, Mrs. M. Goss, Mrs. Paul Castner, Mrs. Albert Merkle, Mrs. Martin Gass, Mrs. Frank Wilmes, Mrs. Gust Weichold, Miss Anna Weichold, Mrs. Raymond Kelleher and Mrs. William Simmons.

"City of Mine"

By FRANK TRIPP

An anonymous reader of The Hartford Times asks, "Would you be able to print my article in your column, along with your answer to my charge?" Yes, indeed, my lonely friend — and gladly. Because your "City of Mine" could be a nostalgic indictment of any city in America:

"O Hartford, city which I loved with all my heart, why have you forsaken me? Where have you hidden the laughter and joy which we shared so long ago? Do you remember?

TRIPP

"On your sidewalks, I chalked numbers and squares. In your alleys and yards, I played cops and robbers. Pure hearts and happiness were our constant companions.

"Your parks and playgrounds later resounded with my yells as my flying feet wore down your athletic fields. My friends were everywhere, colored and white, Jew and Christian. We knew no barriers, only good kids and bad kids. Of money, we had little, but our pleasure and happiness were easily satisfied and priceless to us. Best of all, we were free and alive.

"Then, suddenly, we were grown-ups. Laughter and gaiety were out of bounds in the world of business and the pursuit of money. I became an odd person because my heart remained gentle and I could still laugh and smile from my heart.

"My friends slowly moved away from me and their jeers and sneers kept others from truly knowing me. They were thoughtless in their idle chatter about me, not realizing the terrible hurt they were inflicting on a gentle heart.

"Now, I am alone; the two I loved most, my father and my only son, resting beneath your soil. Not even those closest to me are my friends, truly, anymore. I have seen them all change and, little by little, my heart has been broken.

"My quick laughter and easy smile have gradually sickened and died. Loneliness was no fit companion for them. I would leave you, if I could, but your chains now bind me and I am lost. My lips are silent but inside the cry surges wildly, 'O God, take me away from here and give me peace once more.'

"Strange, that I, who loved you so truly, should now beg to be severed from you. Look into your heart, O City, and discover how you have changed. See the shells which now cover your sons and daughters, barring the entry or departure of beauty and love.

"ONLY THE VERY small ones smile from their herrts and give off love without favor or charge. And I smile with and love them but, still, I am sorrowful, for you will capture and destroy so many of them ere long, unless you change.

"You have overcome me, O City, but I did not surrender and die quickly as did the rest. Look around you and see those who suffocated themselves in their shells at the first sign of compulsion. They walk and talk but they are the living dead, existing for nothing. Are you proud of them, O City? Soon, I shall be of them and my head hangs in shame.

"What is your answer, my Hartford; what is your defense against my charge? Why have you spurned and destroyed me, my own?"

HAVE YOU considered, lonely one, that while you lament, little hands are chalking numbers and squares, happy hearts are laughing, childhood memories are building? Toward the day when their aged generation will cry out "O City of Mine!"

Cities are but people. Greed, hurry, progress answer every question that you ask. The peace you seek rests only in fond memories. Stay in Hartford, whence they came. Stay near them.

Peace is in the soul; not in the street.

Dr. G.E. Robinson Heads Delaware Health Board

Special to The Star

DELAWARE —Officers of the Delaware District Board of Health were named at the Tuesday night meeting.

Dr. G. E. Robinson of Bellpoint was named president succeeding Judge W. L. Glesenkamp, who died Monday. Judge Glesenkamp's five-year term on the board, which would have expired next March, was not filled.

Vincent Ashbrook of Ashley was named vice president. Also serving on the board are: James Taylor of Center Village and Mrs. Fred Gooding of near Delaware.

The offices of the Delaware County Board of Health were closed this afternoon so staff members might attend the Glesenkamp funeral in Ostrander.

"PROPER PERSON." Theodore Kaghan, acting U. S. public affairs chief for Germany, tells the Senate investigating subcommittee that he would not hire a person of his background to fight communism "unless there was evidence that he had broken with that line of thinking." He said his record proves he is a "proper person" for the job he holds. Kaghan was called by the subcommittee to find out whether he had ever flunked a security test.

ATTEND INSURANCE MEETING

Five members of the staff of the local office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. left Thursday for Chicago to attend a business conference with the officials of the company at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Attending from Marion are W. W. Goodwin, manager, J. L. Waddell, assistant manager and L. W. Pfeiffer, C. O. Miller and M. E. Raines, agents. W. L. Ashworth, assistant manager and also a leader, will be in charge of district activities during the absence of Mr. Goodwin. The local office is in the central territory which includes Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana and is one of 60 districts in the territory. In addition to Mr. Goodwin, manager and the two assistants, the staff here includes 17 agents and five clerks.

The U. S. Reclamation Bureau built 110 storage dams and 63 diversion dams from 1902 to 1952.

Holland Back For Fifth Shot at "500"

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bill Holland, never worse than second in four Indianapolis 500-mile races, was back for another shot at auto racing's biggest prize when the two and one-half mile speedway track opened officially today.

Outlawed by the American Automobile Association for the last two years for entering an unsanctioned race, Holland hadn't even been permitted inside the garage area.

The AAA reinstated him last winter, under bond, and he signed up with Earl F. Slick of Winston-Salem, N. C., the air freight man, to drive a proven "hot" car in this year's May 30 classic.

Holland's vehicle is the four-cylinder, rear-drive auto in which Jack McGrath led the 1952 Indianapolis race until his clutch started slipping. McGrath set a record of 131.497 miles an hour for the first 10 laps.

Jobs in industry were found for Indians from every western state and Alaska by the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs in 1952.

APPOINTED TO STEEL POST

CLEVELAND (AP) — Joseph H. Jones today was appointed an assistant district manager of the central alloy district of Republic Steel Corp., which includes Canton and Massillon.

He succeeds Oscar A. Bamberger newly appointed district manager, and formerly was superintendent of Republic's Massillon plant. Jones is succeeded by Robert P. Carpenter, formerly superintendent of the open hearth department in Republic's Cleveland steel plant.

Walter M. Farnsworth, assistant district manager of both the central alloy and Chicago districts, will continue in his present job.

Jones had been superintendent at Massillon for seven years. Carpenter became a third helper on open hearth furnaces in the Warren District in 1940. He was in charge of the open hearth department in Massillon before coming to Cleveland.

Bible Words to Live by

My favorite Bible verse is I John 3:14. "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren." Here is the test of our salvation. It is a test of a lifetime. It is also a daily test. It is a test that one can set up as a motto at the beginning of his Christian experience. It is the test by which he may judge his salvation as he comes down to the evening of life.

Love is the essence of Christian experience. Love casteth out fear. Love never faileth. "But now abideth faith, hope, and love, these three; and the greatest of these is love."

If one is in doubt about his salvation he can test it by this text. If he does not love the brethren he can be sure of his need of redemption.

The love defined here transcends geographical boundaries, race, caste, social strata. It has no barriers.

161 Athletes Vie for Honors in Harding Relays Tonight

Prexy Runners Seek 3rd Title; 11 Schools Entered

By GARY SAMS

Approximately 161 athletes from Harding and ten other Class A schools take part in the fourth annual Marion Night Relays at the stadium today.

Preliminaries in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and 120 yard high and 180 yard low hurdles were to have started at 3:30 p.m. Field events are scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. and running events will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

Attempting to dethrone Harding from its two-year reign in the relays will be Bexley, Fostoria, Findlay, Worthington, Tiffin Columbian and Upper Arlington as well as four new teams, Upper Sandusky, Delaware, Painesville and Galion.

An added feature of the relays will be the 880 yard relays for Marion County high schools and MAR-DEL league teams. Morral, LaRue, Pleasant, Caledonia, Prospect, Green Camp and Waldo have entries in the high school event. Edison, State Street, Vernon and Delaware Junior High Schools will take part in the other race.

Indications are that many of the relays records will be broken. The broad jump mark of 20 feet, 6½ inches, set by Tiffin's Harry Groman is threatened by two Harding trackmen, Gary Ballinger and Doug Bibler. Ballinger has leaped 20 feet, 8¾ inches and Bibler has soared 20 feet, 7½ inches. Burneson of Upper Arlington has done 20 feet, 3 inches.

In the discus, Harding's Jack Boxwell has been credited with a 137 foot, 3½ inch heave and Mueller of Bexley has tossed the discus 134 feet. The standard is 129 feet, 6 inches and is held by Fostoria's John Tate.

Findlay's Bill Garnes' mark of 5 foot, 8½ inches in the high jump is threatened. Rieke of Worthington has cleared 6 foot, ¼ inch. Jim Tucker of Fostoria has gone six feet, and Pastor of Painesville has jumped five foot, ten inches.

Runners will probably give the 100 yard dash mark a run for its money. The record, 10.4, owned by J. Montague of Bexley, will be threatened by Harding's Jack Garver and Chet King, who have been clocked in 10.3 and 10.35.

Harding's Paul Ludwig's mark of 15.7 in the high hurdles could be wiped off the records by Tuckalished by D. Caldwell of Findlay, will be Roy Moses of Upper Sandusky. Hooke of Upper Arlington, Max Kaelber, Ronnie Reed and Jack Craft of Harding, and Long of Tiffin. Moses is credited with clearing 11 feet, 2 inches. Kaelber, Reed, Craft and Long, all 10 feet, 10 inches.

The 440-yard mark is 53.0, set by Bill Garnes of Findlay. Payne of Delaware has run the distance in 53.8 this year, and Jack Andrews and Larry Clinger of Harding in 54.4.

Upper Arlington and Harding will have the largest squads in the meet with 24 and 23 trackmen respectively. Upper Sandusky and Galion will enter 18 boys each. Worthington and Delaware will enter six each.

Kenny Somerlot's harriers are after their third straight win in the relays which would mean the rotating trophy offered by Midtown Chevrolet would be theirs.

The locals won their fourth straight Fremont Relays title and fourth straight title in the annual triangular night meet with Findlay and Fremont recently and will be after their third straight win in the Buckeye League meet at Fostoria May 8.

Vance Sporting Goods is offering the trophy to the meet winner. Other trophies will be offered to the runner-up team and winners in the 880-yard and mile relays. The first three men in each event will receive medals and the next two ribbons. A trophy will go to the individual high scoreman.

Sterling Geesman of Ohio Wesleyan is the starter.

Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Bedford Heights Mayor Interested In Ring Career

CLEVELAND (AP)—Will the tear gas-shooting mayor of suburban Bedford Heights become a professional wrestler?

Mayor Robert E. Willeford had some challengers today, but his lawyer-manager, A. L. Kearns has not decided whether to accept.

Kearns said "the question is whether the matches would be enough to pay expenses."

SHORT SPORTS

If Dean Ludwig can shake off the injury jinx which has been riding his shoulders, a Marion boy will almost certainly be the top linebacking threat in the Michigan Wolverine defense against Ohio's Buckeyes next fall.

Dean is being watched carefully by Michigan Coach Bennie Oosterbaan and has showed signs he can shoulder the load over a 60-minute route in Big Ten competition.

in an effort to convert last year's one-way players into single platoon men. Ludwig is one of three top prospects with whom the coaching staff has been working.

Ludwig weighs in around 200 pounds and is over six feet tall. He has been working overtime in an effort to master the two-way jobs expected next season. Reports out of Ann Arbor describe Ludwig as a sharp and powerful tackler and indicate his big job is in gaining experienced at spotting the plays of the enemy.

The former Harding High School star has been hampered by injuries since his enrollment at Michigan. During his first year, he suffered a foot injury which kept him idle for a long period and last year, after virtually clinching the offensive center post for the Wolves, he was shelved by a serious neck injury which forced him out of action. Last winter, Dean turned from the gridiron to wrestling and finished second in an AAU tourney in Michigan.

While at Harding, Dean was a standout on the gridiron as well as the cage floor. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. L. Harrison Ludwig.

HISTORIC DRIVE BY MILWAUKEE BRAVE. Here is a diagram showing how Milwaukee First Baseman Joe Adcock propelled a line drive into the centerfield bleachers in New York's Polo Grounds in third inning of game with the Giants. Ball traveled 475 feet into the 10th row of seats. It was the first ball ever hit into the bleachers in a regular major league game since the park was remodeled in 1923. This picture was made when Adcock next faced Giant Pitcher Jim Hearn in 6th inning. Braves won, 3 to 2.

Says Commission Erred in Issuing 6 Racing Permits

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes says the Ohio Racing Commission was acting against its own regulations in granting horse running race permits to six Ohio tracks.

Rhodes said Thursday the commission's regulations require each applicant for a horse race permit to submit a complete report on his financial condition, including net worth.

Rhodes said as of April 29 the following permit holders, already granted dates, failed to comply with the regulations:

Beulah Park Jockey Club, Grove City; Ascot Park Jockey Club, Akron; River Downs, Cincinnati; Randall Park, Cleveland; Thistle Downs, Cleveland, and Ohio Sports Enterprises, Hamilton.

There are 42 recognized species of birds of paradise says the National Geographic Society.

Hogan Fourth After First Round Action

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Ben Hogan, one of the greatest putters in golf, today entered the second round of the $15,000 Pan-American Open tournament hoping for a return of the touch that has won him virtually every top prize in the game.

Bantam Ben could do no better than a four-way tie for fourth in the opening round Thursday with a par 72. Still, Hogan was one of the seven players to get home in par figures or better. Only three managed to go under.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., and Margarito Martinez, a Mexico City caddy, were tied for the lead as the field teed off on the second 18 holes. Each came through with a three-under-par 69.

The only other player to break par was Art Wall of Honesdale, Pa., who got home with 71.

BALL WITH WINGS. Joe Adcock, Milwaukee Braves first baseman, holds the ball he belted into the center field seats at the Polo Grounds—the first time the feat has been accomplished in a regular major league game. In his other hand he holds the bat he used for the tremendous wallop against the Giants.

Expect "Heck of a Mob"

OSU Coaching Staff Set For Annual Grid Clinic

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State Coach Wayne Woodrow (Woody) Hayes expects a "heck of a mob of coaches" to attend his annual grid clinic May 8 and 9.

The rotund boss of the Bucks didn't say "heck" in the above quotation, his exact word being a bit more emphatic and enthusiastic.

"We're going to try to give the visiting coaches just what they want," he said today. "We asked 'em to write letters on just the type of program they desired, and we've mapped the two days to wrap up practically everything."

There is no registration fee or other charge for the two-day clinic, and the university will throw in a free banquet Friday night as a bonus to those attending.

Hayes said he expected close to 800 of Ohio's coaches to sit in on the sessions, registrations having passed the 500 mark this week.

Next Friday's program has been split into six lectures by the Ohio State coaching staff. The Buck mentors will use players and motion pictures to illustrate various points and techniques.

Bobby Dodd, Georgia's head coach who hasn't been beaten in the last 26 games, takes over Saturday with assistants Frank Broyles and Ray Graves. Dodd said he'd attend the Friday sessions to pick up a few pointers, and map his own offerings to plug any gaps left by the Ohio State speakers.

The Buckeye mentors, and their topics:

Doyt Perry—Offensive backfield play, with emphasis on passing.

Woody Hayes—Organization in all its phases, with emphasis on how a two-man staff operates and how to prepare for the next opponent.

Bill Arnsparger—Offensive line play, how to teach it; pass protection and the shoulder block (Bill has five pages of notes on the shoulder block.)

Esco Sarkkinen — Offensive end play.

Harry Strobel — Defensive line play.

Ernie Godfrey—Defensive backfield play.

Godfrey, recognized as one of the greatest coaches of place-kickers in the country, will explain the fine points of that maneuver. In the last two years the Bucks defeated Northwestern 3-0 and 24-21 on field goals, nosed out Pittsburgh 16-14 via the same route, and used the placekick for the clinching points in the 23-14 win over Wisconsin.

Following the Friday lectures, the visiting coaches will be guests as the Ohio State squad goes through its final workout for the Saturday clinic contest which winds up the spring practices.

Dodd, whose team won 11 straight last year and then trimmed Mississippi 24-7 in the Sugar Bowl, is expected to delve deeply into his passing and "sweep" plays, the top sections of his system.

er, who has gone the distance 15.4, or Spikes of Painesville, who has been clocked in 15.6.

Two Worthington runners, Blackburn and Cox, are given chances to better the performance of Harding's John Ashworth in the mile run. Ashworth ran the distance in 4:43.5 but Blackburn has a 4:34.6 time to his credit and Cox a 4:44 clocking.

Harding's mile relay team, which has toured the course in 3:40.11, and Upper Arlington's team, credited with a 3:43.9 showing, will be out to break the mark of 3:39.3 set by Upper Arlington.

The 880 yard relay record of 1:35.5, set by Findlay, could also be broken. Harding has run the distance in 1:35.7, Upper Arlington in 1:36.5 and Bexley 1:37.5.

Record in the low hurdles is 20.1, held by Tucker of Fostoria. He has been credited with the same time in a meet this year.

Ashworth's 2:01 performance in the 880 yard run and Paul Geisler's 22.0 clocking in the 220-yard dash should stand. Worthington's Cox has a 2.03 effort and Blackburn of the same team a 2:05 timing in the 880. Radcliffe of Fostoria has been credited with a 23.0 time and King and Ballinger of Harding have been clocked in 23.3 and 23.4 in the 220.

Best performance in the shot put this year is a 44 foot, 2 inch heave by Russell of Fostoria. The record is 46 feet, 5½ inches, held by Harding's Ludwig.

The mayor, who likes to ride around with his policemen, got into the headlines last March when he shot a motorist in the eyes with a tear gas gun during a traffic arrest. The motorist, Saul Goldstone, claims he was partially blinded.

Last Saturday, doing the talking for Willeford, Lawyer Kearns announced that the 280-pounder was going to become "America's only wrestling mayor."

Willeford would, said Kearns, use a "tear gas" punch—two fingers poked into opponents eyes to make them reel around yelling "I'm blinded!"

One of the takers is "gentleman Fred" Bozic, a wrestler for 20 years, who declared Thursday night he would meet the mayor "in his basement, the public hall or any lot."

"Willeford may use his so-called tear gas punch, no holds barred," said Gentleman Fred. "Believe me it will be his first and last bout."

leading prep school grid coaches ended a long and successful career last week when Cloyce Taylor stepped from the scene at Ashland.

Taylor voluntarily quit the grid post with the Arrows but remains as the basketball mentor. His retirement apparently has brought about a shakeup in the Ashland athletic setup. Al Fendrick also stepped out as athletic director.

Taylor leaves his successor a big task. During the past two years the Arrows have rolled through their schedules unbeaten. His teams have won 21 straight for the longest win streak in the state. Taylor had been at Ashland for eight seasons.

Phils May Be Slipping After Losses To Cards; Dodgers Half-Game Behind

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sportswriter

Not so long ago the Philadelphia Phillies were the hottest team in major leagues.

Today Manager Steve O'Neil's charges are casting anxious glances over their shoulders in the direction of the defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers.

The change in Philadelphia's fortunes came when the St. Louis Cardinals came a visiting Tuesday. The Phils were riding the crest of an eight game winning streak and boasted a 2½ lead in the National League race.

The Cards swept the first two games and last night battled the Quakers to a 1-1 standoff in a game that was called after five innings because of rain. While the Cards were mopping up the Phils, the Dodgers extended their winning streak to four and pulled to within a half game of the groggy Phils.

Brooklyn won their fourth straight during the afternoon as they trimmed Cincinnati, 7-4.

The New York Giants snapped a three game losing streak with a 1-0 squeaker over Milwaukee and Pittsburgh trimmed Chicago, 4-2, in other National League action.

In the American League the New York Yankees whipped the Chicago White Sox, 6-1 and the St. Louis Browns defeated Washington, 3-1. Philadelphia's game at Detroit was rained out while Boston and Cleveland weren't scheduled.

The Yankees, who got soaked $450 in fines for their part in the melee in St. Louis Tuesday night, found themselves involved in another small ruckus in Chicago but escaped with their pocketbooks unscathed.

Mickey Mantle has been hitting his home runs so far that they've left no doubt, but at Comiskey Park in the fourth inning he belted one which the White Sox questioned. The ball bounced back on the field and umpire Jim Duffy waved Mantle around. When Chicago manager Paul Richards beefed too long about the devision, Duffy waved him out of the park.

The hitting star of the contest was young Bill Renna who homered, tripled and singled in four trips. The husky righthander was playing left field for Gene Woodling, who was benched with inflamed eyes.

Bob Elliott, an unemployed third baseman when spring training began, took over the runs batted in lead in the American League last night with a three-run homer, all the runs the Browns needed to beat Washington. Elliott, who now has driven home 13 tallies showed up at the Browns' camp in March looking for a job. After a quick trial he was signed on the recommendation of manager Marty Marion and he now is playing third regularly.

Brooklyn spotted Cincinnati two runs in the first inning and then caught up fast as Duke Snider homered in the Dodger half of the first with Pewee Reese on base. Brooklyn went ahead to stay in the second inning with four more runs including a two run blast into the lower left field seats by Reese.

The other two National League contests were settled by do or die efforts in the last of the ninth inning.

At Pittsburgh rookie Frank Thomas picked the perfect time to hit his second home run of the year. With the score tied, 2-2, one out and Ralph Kiner on base in the last of the ninth, Thomas lofted a Paul Minner pitch over the left field score board to end the game.

In New York Bobby Thomson hit a ninth inning home run to break up the game with Milwaukee.

Radnor Wins Crown In Delaware County

RADNOR —Radnor 15, Trojans became the Delaware County baseball champions for the second consecutive year as they finished the league race with seven straight wins. They have an overall season's record of 11 straight wins. They, along with the playoff winner, will represent Delaware County in the Central District Play in Columbus next week.

Weatherman Sees Rain For Derby Track

Native Dancer Still Favored; Size of Field Depends on Conditions

LOUISVILLE Ky. (AP)—Unbeaten Native Dancer places one of turf history's most enviable records on the line Saturday at 4:30 p. m., EST, in the 79th Kentucky Derby. And 11 other three-year-olds are expected to challenge his right to be acclaimed one of racing's greatest.

Not since Man O' War was almost a household word more than 30 years ago has a horse caught the fancy of racing experts and laymen like this smooth striding blue-grey son of Polynesian from the stable of millionaire Alfred Vanderbilt. And that goes for such famous Derby winners as Citation, Count Fleet and Whirlaway.

The names of an even dozen starters were expected to be dropped into the entry box today.

Size of the actual starting field depends a lot on the conditions of the racing strip. It was muddy Thursday and the weatherman saw possibilities of more rain today and Saturday.

The stands, nearly a half-mile in length, and the infield will be jammed with a cross section of American life. Millions more can see or hear the race on television and radio. It'll be televised from 4 to 4:45 p.m. and broadcast from 4:15 to 4:45 by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Eddie Arcaro feels both Native Dancer and the Churchill Downs track are overrated.

Arcaro, who will ride Correspondent in the Derby, says of Native Dancer: "He'd better be a helluva horse. He hasn't proved he is yet, and he's got some good ones to beat."

About the Downs track, he said: "It's the worst possible race track."

It made no difference to the 109-pound Italian that he has ridden five Derby winners — more than any other jockey—and has collected more than $50,000 for his 13 derby mounts.

In a talkative mood Arcaro said the Derby strip is "full of holes—

Adcock Power Ignored; Call on Pinch Hitter

NEW YORK (AP) — How short-lived can fame be?

Thursday, with a Milwaukee rally going, he was benched for a pinch hitter.

Harding Baseballers Set For First Tourney Play

Harding's baseball team was scheduled to make its first appearance in the Central District Class A Tournament today after its scheduled game with Mansfield at Lincoln Park Thursday was called off due to a wet area around home plate.

Pete Howison's nine was to meet Washington Court House at 4 p.m. at Grandview in its tourney opener. Howison nominated John McKinstry, 1-2, for mound duties.

Tournament action opened Wednesday with Washington Court House turning back Grandview, 6-1, at Grandview. Harding drew a first round bye.

Harding, 4-2-1, will play the winner of the Newark-Columbus South game Monday at Lincoln Park if it survives its opening test today. The locals were eliminated in their first start last year by Bexley, 3-2, in extra innings.

The locals were scheduled at Mansfield Tuesday afternoon but wet grounds and cold weather cancelled the game. The game was rescheduled for next Thursday. Harding is scheduled at Galion Monday and here against Lima Central Tuesday.

Harding has won four of its last five games after dropping its opening start to Iberia and to Delaware in the first half of a twinbill. The locals and Bucyrus battled to a 4-4 tie but since the Prexies have won three straight.

Joys of Doing Nothing Not Very Durable

Are You Getting Ready for Retirement?

By CHRIS MACGILL
AP Staff Writer

What are you going to do when you quit work for good?

"I'm going to loaf and fish," you may say and mean it, but unless you're most unusual you'll soon find that the joys of doing nothing pall very quickly.

The time to start thinking about retirement is now. If your life is wound around your job and its associations you may have a hard time developing new interests when your employment ends.

If you have a hobby or several of them, you're in an enviable position. Retirement will mean more time to do the things you enjoy. More than once, a retirement hobby has flowered into a whole new career for a man or woman. Even if it doesn't do that, your hobby is likely to keep you in the swim of things.

But suppose you have reached retirement and never have had time or inclination to develop outside interests. Time is likely to pass slowly with nothing to do but read, listen to the radio or watch TV. All those activities are passive. Most people feel a need for doing something that's creative or involves contact with others.

How to get started? Many cities have recreation centers for older people. There are clubs for oldsters — golden age clubs, three-quarter century clubs, grandmas' clubs and the like. If you happen to live in a community with many retired residents all you have to do is pick and choose.

But don't think you have to confine yourself to old people's groups. Your church or synagogue no doubt has active organizations you can enter. Even in small towns there are bound to be hobby clubs you can join.

Don't overlook volunteer service to the community. It may range from joining the Ground Observer Corps to helping out at the blood bank. However, organizations which enlist the volunteer aid of older people should keep in mind that many of them are on very restricted budgets.

Some areas have been experimenting with camping for old people. In spite of strong initial protests from oldsters who think of camping as childish, social workers have found it works out very well. It has been a particular boom for people from large cities.

However, the camp program that does well for children doesn't suit their elders, the camp staffs have found. Oldsters want leisurely strolls, not organized hikes; sunbathing, not dips in chilly pools; plenty of time to sit and talk to each other, not a constant hustle.

Enrolling for courses at night school or a nearby college is another favorite activity with many elderly people—once they conquer the feeling that studying, like camping, is for youngsters.

A psychologist ran an experiment with three groups of people —one aged 20 to 25, one aged 27 to 37 and one with members between 40 and 70. For two months he taught them Russian, a most difficult language. All three groups learned as much Russian as the average college graduate learns in a year.

Just to be sure, the same groups were taught shorthand. Again there was no important difference in the skill of the young and the old students.

Often older people have the idea they can't learn, so they won't try unless forced.

4-H Club News

A person to compete in a talent show at the Morral School June 5 will be chosen at the May meeting of the Grand Prairie Headliners 4-H Club, it was announced at a recent meeting. The pledge to the American Flag and the 4-H Club pledge opened the meeting and in answer to the roll call, members named their project for the year. Summer camp was discussed and it was decided to have 50 cent dues. It was announced the club was making scrapbooks for children in the hospital. Nancy Moreland and Marjorie Lucas reported on the officers meeting at Prospect recently. The program was in charge of Carolyn Hite, Jean Church and Marjorie Lucas.

Morral Farm Boys held their meeting Monday at the school with Myron Sandridge, president, in charge. Orville Griswold, club advisor, explained the gilt program conducted by the Marion Chamber of Commerce. Gary Heller, Jimmy Lomis and Bobby Bernow repeated the 4-H pledge. Myron Sandridge and John Forry explained what takes place at 4-H camp. There were 25 members present.

Redlegs Fail To Show Any Improvement

Move to Pittsburgh In Effort to Break 5-Game Losing String

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The situation may change later but those preseason predictions that the Cincinnati Redlegs would be one of the most improved clubs in the National League are beginning to look a bit sour.

A year ago, Cincinnati hit the May 1 date with a record of eight victories and five defeats.

It's May 1 again and this time the Redlegs have won only two games while losing seven. They now have lost five straight and haven't been on the winning side since April 21.

The Brooklyn Dodgers Thursday ran their 1953 streak against Cincinnati to three with a 7-4 victory in which pitcher Herman Wehmeier's famous "home run ball" again played a prominent part.

Wehmeier has pitched only seven innings this season. He has given up 10 hits and 13 runs and four of the runs have been homers.

Thursday's homer — by Duke Snider—came in the opening inning and wiped out a two-run lead Cincinnati had grabbed in its half of the inning.

The Redlegs knocked rookie Johnny Podres out in that frame as Ted Kluszewski and Jim Greengrass singled after Bobby Adams and Gus Bell had walked.

The Dodgers locked up the game in the second with four more runs as they sent Wehmeier to the showers. Eddie Erautt, his relief, was shelled for another home run by Peewee Reese.

The Brooks picked up another tally in the third and had more than enough to withstand Bell's home run in the fifth and another Cincinnati run in the eighth on Greengrass' ttriple and Willard Marshall's double.

The Reds moved into Pittsburgh today for a two-game series.

Dr. Pfleiderer Gives Address On World Peace

"Peace Through Americanism" was the subject of a talk given by Dr. George W. Pfleiderer, Marion optometrist, at the Marion Kiwanis Club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding.

Dr. Pfleiderer is commander of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion.

He told his audience that peace and the problems which precede it cannot be won and overcome by war, but he maintains that we must wage a peace offensive.

He said it is a comforting thought that the free people of the world are working together for peace, adding that a greater moral and spiritual uplift of our people could contribute a great deal to peace.

Dr. Pfleiderer told Kiwanians that Russian war production at the

Judge Gives Sound Advice; Should Have Taken It

MONTGOMERY Ala. (AP)—"You've got to keep your mind on your driving." Police Court Judge John Scott explained to a newspaper columnist who complained that a one-way street was not clearly marked.

To prove it, Judge Scott took columnist Allen Rankin to the street in his car and pointed out the signs. Rankin agreed he had overlooked the markings.

The judge then offered to take Rankin back to the newspaper office, and turned off a one-way street to circle the block.

He was stopped by a policeman who pointed out a one-way sign the judge had not noticed.

Both the newspaperman and the jurist paid $2 fines and shook hands on it.

U.S. Experts Will Try To Put Out Mexico Fire

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's government has authorized the entry into the country of two U. S. experts to extinguish fires which killed 25 miners in the Anganguеb silver mine last Saturday.

The fires were reported still smoldering today, six days after faulty electrical cables caught fire from a short circuit.

The American Smelting and Refining Co., which operates the propery 80 miles west of Mexico City, told the Interior Ministry yesterday it has imported fire-fighting equipment adequate to put out the fires but needed the aid of technicians.

Dale Mitchell will start in the outfield.

present time exceeds ours. This, he said, is being done at the expense of the domestic, which thereby is creating unrest. A totalitarian government must go forward, the speaker pointed out, because if they back up they are finished. Russia, he stated, does fear a war of ideology.

"Our answer to Communism is the high standard of living which is maintained in this country," Dr. Pfleiderer said. He added that we must extend a spiritual and moral influence to others, indicating that a moral and spiritual offensive is a must.

"World peace is not impossible if each person considers it his responsibility," Dr. Pfleiderer said he maintains.

Introduced into the club as a new member was Carl Holder. A guest of the club was E. B. Spohn of Marion.

Prospect Seniors On Columbus Tour

The 15 seniors of Prospect High School toured Columbus Thursday in a trip which is arranged annually for the school's graduating class.

First stop on the Thursday tour of the capital city and vicinity was radio station WRFD, Worthington, followed by a visit at the State School for the Blind in Columbus. The seniors gathered at noon in the conference room of the Farm Bureau Cooperative building and later ate lunch in the employees' cafeteria.

A tour of the city's office buildings was followed by a visit at the State House. The tour of Columbus ended at the Sally Flower's television show.

The class was accompanied by Mrs. Helen Lott, of the school faculty, and George Schertzer, educational director of the Marion County Farm Bureau.

nists at one point interrogated him for hours, until he passed out from exhaustion.

After returning to the states, Kelley was puzzled by one incident on the plane he boarded at San Francisco.

The regular seats were already filled, so he and a prisoner of war buddy, Pfc. Juan Osorio-Melendez of New York, were directed to the lounge for make-shift seats and sleeping accommodations.

Two male civilians expressed annoyance at their presence, he said, because they took up too much room.

They said aloud for his benefit that the two POW's had made it impossible for them to play cards, and glared at them for their intrusion, said Kelley.

WILLYA LOOK AT THE LUCKY KIDS WAITIN' FOR A RIDE ON THE SCHOOL BUS?! I THINK TO WALK TO SCHOOL WOULD BE LOTSA FUN! BUT TO RIDE—THAT'S GRAND!
THERE THEY GO, SINGIN' AN' LAFFIN' LIKE A BUNCH OF HAPPY SARDINES—IT MUST BE WONDERFUL TO RIDE ON A SCHOOL BUS EVERY DAY!
NO WONDER THEY WAS ALL LAFFIN'—I LAFF AN' LAFF WHEN I RIDE ON A MERRY-GO-ROUND, BUT I'D LAFF LOUDER IF I WAS RIDIN' ON A SCHOOL BUS.
ON A MERRY-GO-ROUND, NO MATTER IF YOU RIDE EVERY DAY, YOU DON'T GET NO PLACE—BUT IF YOU RIDE ON A SCHOOL BUS EVERY DAY, YOU GET SMARTER AN' SMARTER, AN' THEN GROW UP TO GET A SWELL JOB AN' LIVE HAPPY EVER AFTER—

Retired Salesman Can Vote Now

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Francis S. Smith worked as a salesman all of his adult life. When election day rolled around, he was always "on the road."

This year, aged 75 and retired, Smith will cast his first vote in the vote," he said. "I don't know anything about using a voting machine."

He was the first person to register when the city's traveling registrars showed up in his neighborhood recently. He enrolled as a Democrat but considers himself "independent."
